British Mission Off to Tehran To Discuss Oil

U.K., Iran Agree Formally To Reopen Negotiations

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 3 (AP)—Britain and Iran agreed formally today to seek a round-table settlement of the Iranian oil dispute. A cabinet mission left London by plane for Tehran.

The leader of the mission, Richard R. Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, said before the takeoff he hopes to see Premier Mohammed Mossadegh Sunday for a fresh start on negotiations that broke down in June. The mission is to arrive tomorrow.

Britain has accepted the "principle of nationalizing the oil industry in Iran." This was stated to mean the Iranians will control all "exploration, extraction and exploitation."

Iran agreed that she will negotiate with Britain on how she will take over the vast oil resources. Up to this year, the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company had exclusive charge of oil operations in Iran.

SERIES OF NOTES

The two countries exchanged a series of six notes today on the decision to get together. They were not made public, but the sixth note was considered most basic. It contained the minutes of the cabinet session in which the Iranian government laid down a basis for negotiations. It defines nationalization as covered by a law passed in March, not a law passed in May specifying the procedures for the take-over. The Iranians previously had insisted the latter law be the basis of any new talks.

The Iranian press department postponed until tomorrow a press conference and asked the British Embassy not to publish the notes in Tehran.

Pact Talks Arranged For Ottawa

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP)—The council of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, composed of cabinet ministers from 12 countries, will meet here Sept. 15, it was announced today.

The parley is widely expected to make vital decisions to bolster western army might by adding Greek, Turkish and possibly German strength and by making greater demands on member nations.

The external affairs department said the meeting "will serve to emphasize the determination of all 14 NATO countries to maintain the momentum already created in order that the strength of the North Atlantic area may shortly reach the point where it can hold at bay the forces of any potential aggressor."

Use of the word "shortly" raised some ears since it is generally believed that build-up of strength in the key areas of Western Europe is only in the earlier stages.

Queen Marks Birthday Today

More Active Than Ever

British Guns to Salute Queen's 51st Birthday

LONDON, Aug. 3 (Reuters)—Guns will boom out a Royal salute in every part of the British Isles tomorrow as the Queen celebrates her 51st birthday.

Telegrams and letters of congratulation will probably outnumber the hundreds that have annually poured into Buckingham Palace on the occasion, for the Queen's added activities this year brought about by the King's illness and the Festival of Britain have placed her more in the limelight than ever.

The Queen will spend the day quietly at the Royal Family's vacation home, Balmoral Castle in her native Scotland.

Though now a grandmother, she has retained the charm, activity and avid interest in her people that brought her popularity.

In her increasingly rare off hours, the Queen likes to putter about in the kitchen, making Scottish pastry for afternoon tea.

She is fond of chocolates and smokes an occasional cigarette during her evenings at home.

These evenings she likes to spend with the King, whom she invariably calls "Bertie", watching television or playing canasta. The King's name in the family is Albert, though George is his official one.

INDULGENT

In the manner of most grandmothers, she occasionally indulges Prince Charles and Princess Anne to a point her daughter is likely to disapprove.

Since she was brought to the public eye on her coronation in 1936, genealogists have been busy looking out her antecedents. Among others, they have linked her with Shakespeare and George Washington. Her family is the ancient line of Bowes-Lyon.

Ridgway Flatly Rejects Parallel as Truce Line

Douglass Asked Opinions

Sgt. Brooke Douglass, head of the city's traffic department, has been asked to submit a special report how he thinks his department should be organized for maximum effect.

It was learned yesterday he will submit the report to Chief John Blackstock.

Sgt. Douglass earlier this week asked the police commission to relieve him of the regular patrol branch. It is believed he requested the move because he felt he was being blocked by certain individuals in bringing about improvements to the city's traffic conditions.

NO COMMENT

Neither Sgt. Douglass nor the commission will comment on the issue.

It is understood the commission has referred the issue back to the police department heads. They will submit a report to the commission. The commission probably is taking this action because there are certain technical angles to the problem.

It is likely another commission meeting won't be called until the police heads have compiled their report.

BULLETINS

Saving Wind

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug. 3 (CP)—A shift in the wind today saved New Westminster's multi-million-dollar industrial district from destruction by fire.

A shingle mill of the Capilano Timber Co. was destroyed, with loss estimated at more than $60,000. And flames were heading for other big plants when the shift in wind came.

Man Sought

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP)—Police tonight sought a Vancouver man who has been ordered to spend seven days in jail because he failed to pay his hospital insurance premiums.

Violate Order

HOPE, B.C., Aug. 3 (CP)—Two companies and one person today were fined $25 and costs each for violating the Vancouver district forest closure order.

"Irrelevant as Equator" From Military Angle

TOKYO, Aug. 4 (Saturday) (INS)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters today flatly rejected the 38th parallel as a cease-fire line of demarcation in Korea.

A headquarters' statement said:

"From a military standpoint the 38th parallel is as relevant as the equator."

Truce negotiators met for only one hour and 10 minutes in their 19th armistice session and deadlocked in the eighth day over location of a cease-fire buffer zone.

Today's meeting at Kaesong was the shortest since the armistice agenda was agreed upon July 26.

The statement of Gen. Ridgway's views bluntly answered Communist propaganda concerning Allied cease-fire demands and swept away much of the secrecy clouding the conference.

HOLD TRUMPS

It proclaimed the extent of Allied victories and said U.N. forces now hold the trump cards of the deadly game.

Nevertheless it said the Allies are willing to sacrifice some military advantages to bring peace.

"The demilitarized zone," it said, "must be based on the actual military situation and must be so drawn that it will not facilitate preparations for a new attack.

"The Communists launched their original aggression from the 38th parallel. This fact alone is sufficient indication of why this imaginary line of latitude is not a proper or satisfactory basis for a demilitarized zone.

"Moreover, the aerial battle line is far to the north of the 38th parallel, and any talk of both sides withdrawing from the parallel is absurd."

Reduced Milk Delivery Likely If Price Raised

Possibility of skip-a-day milk delivery moved one step closer yesterday with the announcement that the Vancouver Island Dairymens' Association has applied for an increase in the price dealers pay for fluid milk.

Amount of the increase asked by the producers was not disclosed.

The milk board has called a public hearing on the application. It will be held in the Knights of Pythias Hall, 723 Cormorant Street on Aug. 13. The board will hear all parties interested in giving evidence.

Earlier this year the price of milk to the consumer jumped from 19 to 21 cents a quart.

F. H. Norton, manager of Northwestern Creameries Limited, said yesterday that distributors in Victoria have been trying to find some solution to any proposed increase in milk prices and some way to cut down expenses.

He said 212 cities in 41 states in the United States have milk deliveries every second day, and 57 cities in 21 states every third day.

He added that milk distributors in Vancouver met the milk board recently to discuss every other day delivery.

Mr. Norton indicated skip-a-day delivery in Victoria was a definite possibility if an increase was granted the farmers.

Thin Winter In Prospect For Loggers

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP)—Prospect of a winter long famine today had British Columbia lumbermen worried.

Woods operations have been halted for days because of the fire hazard resulting from 51 days of drought.

Stocks of logs, the raw material for the 500 mills in the big coast forest district, have run low. These stocks were built up to carry the industry through the July holiday and a probable normal fire shutdown.

Some major mills are closed, a few are on short time and the smaller mills are shut down.

Forest fires have cost lumber operators $2,000,000 while woodworkers have dropped more than $1,000,000 in wages. Fifteen thousand loggers and mill workers are idle.

It was estimated today that the drought has cost at least $7,000,000 in unemployment, razed timber tracts, ruined crops and general losses in industry.

BEHIND SCHEDULE

Lumber exporters holding the best batch of Commonwealth orders in years, are behind in their loading schedule.

The $50,000,000 order for some 600,000,000 board feet, for shipment to the United Kingdom before July, 1952 calls for loading out of B.C. ports about 50,000,000 feet a month. These orders alone take up 25 per cent of the sawmill output.

Even if rain comes soon and none is forecast — it will take operators some weeks to get logs into the water.

Prospector Back Home After Wild Suicide Try

DURANGO, Colo., Aug. 3 (INS)—Millard Carmean, lonely 56-year-old prospector who has been threatening suicide for three days in Colorado's rugged San Juan Basin, was in Durango with his family today.

A brother, Norman, was led to him this afternoon by a sheepherder, Jim Moreno of Mancos, who told him:

"I have a wild man in my camp."

Norman found his brother and told him that his daughter, Mrs. Keith Smith, was in a jeep. The prospector went along quietly.

At the camp he was found to have 11 sticks of dynamite on his person. He also said he took 17 sleeping pills, but "all they did was make me sick."

SHEEP DISTURBED

The sheepherder told Norman that he heard a disturbance among his sheep Thursday. Taking a gun, he investigated and found Carmean.

He said the prospector attacked him with a knife, but he beat him off at gunpoint, and forced him to accompany him to camp, where he fed him and put him to bed.

Later, Carmean became more rational, and Moreno gave him back his knife, which Carmean whittled with for several hours.

Moreno said Carmean was unarmed except for the knife, having lost a gun with which he fired at a sheriff's posse earlier. Moreno said Carmean had fallen down a 40-foot embankment and suffered scrapes.

POISED FOR LEAP

Carmean fired at Sheriff Chet Petty when a posse tried to dissuade him from leaping from a 200-foot rock pinnacle.

In the search party for the man today were his brothers, Norman and Ray, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smith. Eighteen-year-old Mrs. Smith was described as his favorite of six children. Also with the party was Bill Miller, a newspaper photographer.

Carmean's wife, Belle, remained in Durango.

Police Crack Narcotics Ring

MONTREAL, Aug. 3 (CP)—R.C.M.P. said tonight they have smashed a narcotics ring in Montreal and termed it the biggest ever to operate in the city.

Sheriff Halts Desert Search

YUMA, Ariz., Aug. 3 (INS)—Sheriff James Washum today declared he has called off the search for a couple missing in the Arizona desert since July 15, because he thinks their disappearance is a hoax.

The sheriff asked Los Angeles authorities to make an investigation of the couple's movements and the circumstances under which they took off in an airplane 18 days ago.

Missing are student nurse June Marijane Walker and Klaus Martens, automobile salesman.

Washum said he was baffled by the case. He said there were indications the couple may have taken off in another plane after landing in the desert.

Agree Standardization Impractical at Present

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The four-power conference on arms standardization wound up today with unanimous agreement that nothing could be done now but that "as early as practicable" another effort should be made to agree on a standard caliber of rifle ammunition for all North Atlantic Treaty countries.

A statement issued at the end of a two-day conference of representatives of the United States, Britain, France and Canada said:

"Cooperation between the countries, particularly relating to the rifle and its rounds ammunition, were discussed in detail. The requirements of the rifle and other weapons were re-examined and the characteristics of the various types were considered.

CONTINUE OUTPUT

"It was unanimously agreed that any decision on the adoption of a new round of small arms ammunition would not affect the immediate situation, and that in order to permit the arming of North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries as rapidly as possible the presently accepted standard ammunition and weapons should be continued in production for some time.

"At the same time, it was unanimously agreed that as early as practicable, a new round of small arms ammunition should be adopted."

R.C.M.P. Investigate Colwood Accident

A young sailor was seriously injured and five other persons narrowly escaped injury in two traffic accidents early yesterday morning.

R.C.M.P. personnel are still investigating what appear to be strange circumstances surrounding an accident at Colwood Corner where a car crashed into a power pole about 3 a.m. yesterday.

Ordinary seaman Fred Taylor, H.M.C.S. Naden was found unconscious in the wrecked 1947 Plymouth coach by R.C.M.P. highway patrol officers. The injured sailor was given emergency treatment at the scene by Dr. Gregoire A. Wright of Langford.

"COMING ALONG WELL"

The seaman was taken to the R.C.M.P. hospital at H.M.C.S. Naden and late yesterday was reported "coming along very well."

He was interviewed in hospital later in the day by the R.C.M.P. and it is understood officers are now seeking a second person participants in the car at the time of the crash.

The car involved had been taken from a Clare Downey service station at Sidney a short time before the accident. It was from the used car lot of Wilson Motors Ltd., 909 Yates Street, and had been for sale at the Sidney station.

Clair Downey, operator of the service station, reported he had locked the car at about 11:30 the previous night.

The car was heading toward Victoria when it crashed.

A spokesman for the R.C.M.P. said it was likely charges would be laid sometime today.

The second accident came at 4 a.m. on Interurban Road near Burnside when a car and a truck collided. In collision were a truck driven south on Interurban by James D. C. McMurchie, 2304 Cook Street, and a car being driven in the opposite direction by Edward G. Travers, 456 Chester Avenue.

The Travers car was a total loss, while damage to the truck amounted to $200.

McMurchie was alone in the truck.

Passengers in the car were Mrs. Travers, 17-year-old Sam Ranson and 13-year-old Robert Broadhurst.

None of the five persons involved was injured.

Boy Briefly Rich, Then Error Found

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Jay Bresser, 18-year-old Rockville, Md., high school student, asked the government for a tax refund of $21.55. He got a government check for $368,000.26.

Yesterday Bresser was told it was all a mistake. A treasury department spokesman said a clerk-typist machine operator probably punched the serial numbers instead of the correct amount.

Royal Couple To Visit U.S.

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh announced today they will be guests of President and Mrs. Truman in Washington October 31 to 26. It is expected their brief American visit may take in New York.

In Ottawa it was indicated the royal couple likely will interrupt their visit to Canada to make the side trip to the United States. They are not expected to have finished by October 24 their Canadian tour scheduled to start at Quebec City September 30.

An announcement made at Clarence House, the London home of the princess and Duke, said they accepted "with great pleasure" an invitation to visit Truman. It added that they will stay at Blair House, temporarily the president's official residence.

Thieves Beat Price Increase

Some thieves have figured out a way to beat temporarily the gasoline price increase.

According to city police, 95 gallons of gasoline were stolen Wednesday and Thursday nights from the Midland Construction Company's Harbour Street yards.

Wednesday night thieves removed a barrel containing 30 gallons from a truck trailer parked in the yard. Thursday night a lock was broken on a gasoline pump and 15 gallons pumped out. Another 20 gallons was siphoned from a tank truck.

Worker Hurt In Blackout

TORONTO, Aug. 3 (CP)—A hydro worker was injured tonight and the Toronto downtown area was without power for 50 minutes after an accident during switching operations at a hydro sub-station.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

As the royal tour draws nearer everybody wants to get in the act.

Although we wiped "rural" off the mail wagons we Canadians are true to the Crown. We show our loyalty by trying to drive the princely couple into a nervous tizzy.

We invite them to look Canada over then make plans to force them in with fairs, parades and conventions. We invite them to take a rest, then propose that they should work day and night.

Every hamlet across Canada inundated by more than four people has formed its own "meet the princess" committee.

The town of Mud Lake, New Brunswick, has invited the Prince and Princess to splash the first frog in a new frog pond.

"Sneezy Valley, Nova Scotia, would like the Prince to back the first crate of eels from a new shipping industry. The eels would afterwards be mounted in a glass case and presented to the Prince as a keepsake.

Tiber Bell wants the emptiest visitors to accept 1,000 pounds of potatoes and then take to the sea.

A farmer in Long Lone, Ontario, has christened a pair of wild horses Elizabeth and Philip. He wants the royal couple to be the first to ride them.

The Rosey Glen Civic Chamber of Commerce is anxious that they should spend a week of absolute quiet on the shores of beautiful Lake Clogg, bringing accompanied by no one except some wolves and bears and the members of the chamber, their wives and their nightsticks.

Lonse Law, Saskatchewan, pleads with the Princess to preside over a meeting of the city council and make a two-hour speech.

President of the Lac Grosse Confederation has invited the royal pair to Beaver Lake where they are supposed to rock the canoe while perched in the Ojibwagan and attend a ceremonial party where the guests will drink nothing but the apple wheeze.

* * *

"He's inside the cabby," cried a reporter as he slammed down the telephone yesterday afternoon. Several people stopped to listen.

"Inside the reporter said. "He's down at the Black Ball dock. Peter called George—that's what he's about 20 feet long, with a head like a horse and scales like an alligator. They've got him tied under the wharf with four ropes. Where's a photographer?"

"Sea lion," somebody said. Somebody else was screaming down the corridor for a photographer.

"The man says it's Caddy all right. He got tangled up with his propeller."

"You mean this thing has a propeller as well as a head like a horse?"

"No, it got tangled up with the propeller of the Seattle boat."

The photographer appeared with his camera. Six people piled into two cars and rushed down to the wharf. The place was deserted except for a friend, official and two men loading fruit on a truck.

We wanted to avoid looking foolish. "You didn't . . . uh . . . hear anything about any strange animals being dredged up around here . . . uh . . . did you?"

The official said no. But a big Labrador dog had been jumping in and out of the water, he added helpfully.

No Caddy. No story. Man-hours wasted: three.

The same hunter phoned a little later to say there had been a big accident in front of the Parliament Buildings. This time his name was John Crawford. Luckily a telephone operator recognized his voice.

Gratified, Premier Says

Premier Byron Johnson yesterday expressed gratification over the fact that the Coalition will be represented by Mayor Peters in the forthcoming Esquimalt by election.

The premier described Mayor George as "a man who has rendered valuable public service not only to the city of Victoria but in many other fields of endeavor, including the field of education."

"It is gratifying to know that a worthy successor to the late outstanding citizen, Whose— murder Charles T. Bennett

In Hospital

MRS. MARGARET CHRISTIE

Who has been suffering from laryngitis, was admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital Thursday night. She is expected to be there several days. Her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, 30 Howe Street, said yesterday her doctor has ruled there must be no visitors. "It wouldn't be much use anyway," she said. "Mother can't talk."

Interim Increase Granted

An interim increase of 15 per cent in power rates charged industrial and commercial consumers was granted to the B.C. Electric Company Ltd. yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission.

A commission official explained that a public hearing would be held during the fall on both the latest increase and the 25 per cent increase on residential consumption granted the company last March.

EFFECTIVE AUGUST 1

The increase on commercial and industrial rates was effective from August 1.

It will affect industrial and commercial concerns, governments, cities and municipalities (but not street lighting rates), and school boards.

Commission officials said their engineers and auditors had substantiated company claims that increased taxes and costs since the beginning of the year justified the granting of the new increase.

Morrison Speech Possibly Omitted From Domestic Edition of Prayda

A Russian press may have prevented Soviet people from reading a recent speech by Herbert Morrison, Britain's Foreign Minister.

Victor Kangro, 1871 Taylor said he believed it possible Russia is printing two separate Prayda newspapers, one for foreign distribution and to diplomats in Moscow and the second for Soviet people.

"Morrison's speech may have been printed in the edition of foreign distribution and not for home reading, he believed.

PEACE SPEECH

Prayda was reported to have printed a Morrison speech in which he said western nations were seeking peace.

Kangro, an Estonian who escaped his native land during the second Russian occupation, Estonia and another in Soviet Russia, came to Canada from Germany in December, 1949. He based his theories on the fact that the news content was totally different and said:

"The Soviet edition was designed to plant fear and to keep people along the party line. The edition in Sweden contained nothing to plant fear, but told news, propaganda, Mr. Kangro said.

To Speak Here

Alderman J. Penner, member of the Winnipeg city council will address a meeting in the William Building, 749 Broughton Street of projects for the public and Alderman Penner's talk is sponsored by the International Friendship Committee.

The speaker, who visited the Soviet Union in May of this year to bring first-hand information to his constituents, states he is speaking in the interests of "international understanding and harmony."

Who said You can't Afford a Fine Car?

MANY's the man who has paid far more for a fine car than the price of this beauty—and got less than this gay and gallant traveller offers. Sweeping proudly past you, it has a distinction that few cars can equal.

Stepping nimbly away from a stop light, it has the willing surge of power that the very exclusive combination of a Fireball engine and Dynaflow Drive* delivers.

It rides the road with majestic smoothness, and comes to a smooth and gentle halt, in response to the finest brakes that Buick engineers ever developed.

Inside, it has spacious room, from side to side and front to back and seat to roof—plus a softness of cushions and a richness of fabrics which bespeak the custom standards to which it is built.

All you could want in a fine car is here in abundance.

But don't let that fool you into deciding "It's too rich for me."

If you've looked into 1951 car prices generally, you'll discover this:

You can own a BUICK for little more than an ordinary car will cost—and for several hundred dollars less than the price tags usually found in "the fine-car field."

Why not look into this today?

Exchange Visit Idea By Senator Has Merit

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Senator Burnet R. Maybank of Charleston, S.C., says that if Congressmen could exchange visits with members of the Russian parliament, they could learn much about the way of life of the other fellow.

I'd be frank with him about the spots where everything is not so good but I'd think he'd be amazed to compare the progress of people under capitalism with the [illegible] one generation of Communism.

Aside from the fact that the Russian government would not allow such an exchange to be carried out, I'd like to see it tried.

DON'T MAKE CARS

It would be months after his return before Maybank could get his car [illegible] the factories would be busy making tanks and guns instead of automobiles. It just looks that way to the visitor behind the Iron Curtain.

I'd go to see for myself. I'd like to see the people's faces when they walked [illegible] last Friday and found they'd been under $1.50 boat[illegible] Tuesday appointing [illegible] stage play.

Toomey appeared yesterday and was ordered to show up today to [illegible] W. Zelop, 21, in a roadside tavern last June 21.

Movie Badman Jailed

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3 (AP)—A [illegible] Lawrence Tierney, the [illegible] of the screen, took [illegible] to five days in jail for [illegible] contempt of court.

Municipal Judge Joseph Call imposed the penalties when Tierney, 31, failed to [illegible] courtroom several hours after he was called [illegible] on a battery charge.

A bench warrant had been issued for his arrest the second time in a week.

Tierney told the judge:

"I'm sorry, I'm late, judge, but [illegible] couldn't find my way [illegible] to get traffic ticket on my way down here."

Snapped Judge Call:

"Take him into custody."

The trial on the battery charge was reset for August 23.

The police had issued the order [illegible] last Friday and [illegible] Tierney under $1,500 bond [illegible] he was reported to [illegible] [illegible] appointing [illegible] stage play.

Private Butter Imports Banned; Ottawa to Build Up Stockpile

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP)—The government today banned butter imports by private traders and appointed itself sole importing agent to the trade at cost plus [illegible] with power to buy [illegible] 20,000,000 pounds to avoid a shortage this winter. It will be possible [illegible] butter shortage next [illegible] to consumers, it said.

It also held out the hope that it may indirectly and temporarily boost the 58-cent a pound floor price on butter to collect a few thousand pounds into empty government larders.

Agriculture Minister James G. Gardiner [illegible] a press conference that a newly created agricultural [illegible] board has been given authority to import 40,000,000 pounds from butter countries at prices to be negotiated.

In addition it has been given power to initiate [illegible] on another 10,000,000 pounds to be purchased in the event that butter production in Canada falls below current estimates.

Exam Cribbing Results In West Point Scandal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Ninety West Point cadets including football stars and other athletes, have been suspended for cheating on examinations in a scandal [illegible] which has wrecked the U.S. Army's powerful football team.

The mass suspension announced by the army today were the largest since the military academy was founded in 1802.

Senator Harry Byrd (Dem., Va.) said he had been told by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, that a majority of the West Point football team was involved in breaking the academy's code of honor.

Army sources said Major Gen. Frederick Irving, the academy's superintendent, feels [illegible] that the team will play not [illegible] to lose every game [illegible]

Four More Flee Poland In Stolen Aerial Jalopy

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 3 (AP)—A battered [illegible] plane scarred by bullets, limped across the Baltic to a landing in southern Sweden early today with four young Poles, who said they were fed up with Communism and asked asylum as political refugees.

The four, three youths and a girl of 20, told of stealing the plane from an airport near Poznan in a struggle with Polish railway guards who sought to stop them and of pursuit by a Polish warplane which they finally eluded in clouds near the Baltic.

"They came down about dawn near Malmoe, Sweden, 260 miles northwest of Poznan.

The latest of many who have fled Poland, they landed less than 24 hours after a Polish navy minesweeper seized by mutineers put into the Swedish port of Ystad, 40 miles southeast of Malmoe.

Hints of unrest and the urge of these Poles to flee created speculation on a recent statement by Premier Tito of Yugoslavia that a revolt is under way in Poland.

Despite the makeshift nature of their craft and its riddled landing gear, the four Poles landed perfectly.

The plane's engine is Polish-made with an American carburetor. The wheels are from a German Messerschmitt. Several other parts are Swiss.

Grafts on Family Tree Make Sister of Mother

LAKELAND, Fla., Aug. 3 (AP)—Wait a minute, said the recruiting sergeant your mother can't be your sister.

But she is, replied Billy Joe Miller. Not only that, his son is his brother and his father is his brother-in-law.

Miller explained it like this:

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Miller adopted the girl who was to become Billy's mother. She married, gave birth to Billy, then was divorced.

The Millers adopted Billy, making him his mother's brother. A few years ago Billy married, fathered Billy Joe Miller, Jr., then was divorced. The Millers again came into the picture, adopted Billy, Jr.

So, Billy, Sr., is both father and brother to Billy, Jr. He is son and sister to his mother, now Mrs. Viola Miller Cribbs of Jacksonville.

And, because his father was married to his mother, who is also his sister, his real father is also his brother-in-law.

In turn, Billy Jr.'s grandmother is his sister and his father is his brother.

Nationalist Guerillas Form Powerful Band

HONG KONG, Aug. 3 (AP)—Two of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's "old" Nationalist armies have formed a powerful 20,000-man guerilla force along the border of Burma and Communist China.

Recent reports to Chinese newspapers here indicate the Chiang's old Eight and 26th Armies, fully armed, are based in the southwest Chinese province of Yunnan.

The force is said to control a sizable area where additional fighters are being trained. Presumably ammunition and supplies come through Burma.

The Eighth was the last Nationalist army to leave China after the 1949-50 debacle. During the collapse of Chiang's forces it withdrew slowly along with the 26th and it was back in Yunnan.

In May, 1950 the Burmese demanded disarmament of these soldiers but negotiations broke down and small-scale fighting began. Eventually the Nationalist force established control of a border area where it remains.

During the last year they have been joined by thousands of refugees from Communist-held territory.

Observers think the Communists will not delay much longer a full-scale campaign against these holdouts.

Example in Cheerfulness

FORTY members of a British press and automotive trade party who spent yesterday in Victoria at the turn-around point in a continental tour sponsored by the Austin Motor interests and Canadian affiliates shared two distinguishing traits in common—their innate cheerfulness of outlook and their readiness to learn whatever new-world countries might have to offer. There was not a grumble in the gathering which landed at Patricia Bay after some 48 hours of the most strenuous air travel, spanning the Atlantic and Canada. In the reception, luncheon, conducted tours and other features that followed the predominating note was cheery good will on the part of the visitors. It was as refreshing and welcome as a shower after long-continued drought.

London newspapermen with the party told of the shortage of newsprint in Britain without grumbling. Their daily task is to fit the multifarious events of a great metropolis into four sheets of paper, in a rationed supply little different from war times. Writers for trade journals discussed the export market, and told of steps taken in the United Kingdom to fit the conditions to the fact overseas in Commonwealth lands under widely varying circumstances. Fresh from the memories of a devastating war with its bazookas on their homes, these men could say exactly that Coventry, while not rebuilt as yet, was "coming along nicely." Whatever else austerity may have done, it has certainly not sapped the spirit of the United Kingdom. Unbalanced trade, critical shortages of steel and other supplies, pressure to continental Europe with its seeming problems and whirlpool vexations, none of these drawbacks has got the people of Great Britain down.

Victorians who were privileged to meet the visitors came away with this strongly marked impression. The tour, an enterprise one of the aims of which is expanding British exports, is likely to have consequences of no less consequence. Every man and woman in the visiting group was an ambassador-at-large for his or her country, and a good one. Whatever else Britain may have for export, cheerfulness will remain at the top of the pile.

The Packsack

BY GREGORY CLARK

MAN and his works probably had nothing to do with the Kamloops floods as well as with the fires that raged in British Columbia. But without man's help nature can stage some independent and shattering performances. Given a well-designed organic flavor and wide areas a few days of torrential rain could burn off half the continent. And geologists who have to uncover the soil to get at the rocks have collected evidence in various parts of America of some gigantic conflagrations that spread over vast areas of the country in ages past.

During spring floods nature can make a clean sweep of ice as well as from trees and other debris uprooted by the rampaging waters which cause floods, that sometimes alter the whole character of a wide terrain. We find inland lakes miles removed from any contact by streams or even swamps, which contain fish that are landlocked enough in main waters a few miles distant, but which are astonishing to find in those isolated waters. The chances are that in those years, some massive floods spread water over the land to an extent now deemed impossible. In considering nature it is wisest to assume that anything is possible.

In the Jesuit Relations there is reference to a great earthquake that shook eastern Canada, changing the levels of the earth over wide areas, in the early 17th century. When we wonder how in the world the trout or bass got into some of the lakes lost amid the hills, it could have been that earthquake which pushed up the hills and isolated the lake. Or it could have been one of the disturbances of the past 5,000 years that must have occurred on this continent, as they did on the older continents. For we have records in America that go back a mere 500 years. Beyond that is sheer myth.

When nature is mentioned, we think of birds and bees, and flowers. But floods and bush fires are nature, too. And when we condescend to the pretty little aspects of nature, we must, at the same time, be prepared to assume at any time an attitude of abject and awed subjection.

Canute Up-to-Date

CARTOONISTS have portrayed the Canadian government as a modern Canute ordering back the rising waves of inflation. The idea was to show that the government, like Canute, was powerless to control the tide; but the analogy is imperfect in one respect. Canute knew that he could not do it, and told his barons so, taking them to the seashore to prove that he possessed no supernatural ability. The Canadian Government, with the economic tide climbing higher and higher up its shanks, has stubbornly clung to belief in its own power to stem the flood.

Otherwise the comparison is apposite. Canute failed, and the government has failed—how dismally this week's announcement of the cost-of-living index for June has demonstrated. The question now is, will the government admit at last that it cannot control the tide by incantations? Instead of trying to stop the rise by economic magic and Controls, will it set about doing what it should have done long ago: build a dike which will hold back the tide?

There is nothing funny about the cartoonist's picture of an enthroned "Ottawa" dabbling its feet in the water and telling the audience not to panic, that the water will drop back any minute now. While the government indulges in this auto-hypnosis, the tide threatens to submerge the bystanders.

A Serious Mistake

IT MAY have been well meant, but the invitation to provincial civil servants to tell tales out of school is not a happy way to carry out a survey aimed to eliminate superfluous staffs and increase efficiency. Undoubtedly many civil servants have ideas on how governmental office work might be improved, since they are acquainted more intimately than top-level officers with routine details, but a blanket invitation to spy on one another is not a good corrective measure.

Except in a few instances anonymous information of any kind is not to be relied on. The opportunity afforded malcontents to work off a grudge or spite by belittling the work of another is too tempting to be part of any plan that seeks to raise the standard of public service. In effect it turns the civil service into a secret service, and that is contrary to Canadian concepts of operation. Any suggestion that is worth its salt is not circumscribed by its motives being known; if it is then something radically is wrong with B.C.'s proposed survey.

The secrecy dense that the cheap-letter system of civil servants requesting this information to enter it in the current survey, and permitting suggestions to be anonymous, has been received with mixed feelings. Some employees think it not far short of an insult, and recall that a favorite practice of the Nazi regime was precisely similar. We do not believe for a moment that the intentions of the Civil Service Commission were parallel in any way, but the step taken appears to be a serious mistake. Certainly any information received as a result of this invitation is bound to be suspect in some degree, and should not form the base upon which changes in the service are effected.

Buttle Lake

By FRANK KELLEY

ONE who has spent even a little time in the vicinity of Buttle Lake cannot help but be interested in what might happen thereabouts. Contemplating the proposal to use the lake as a storage basin for power purposes and the opposition already voiced against it, one realizes it is more than 40 years since the cabinet of Richard McBride set aside, on behalf of the people of British Columbia, some 800 square miles of Vancouver Island's most eye-challenging physical features, the diversity of which would be hard to duplicate anywhere.

Having been a bit hypnotized, maybe, by what woodsmen happened to relate concerning the general magnificence of the area it was no wonder itchy feet turned that way about the time the then chief commissioner of lands, Price Ellison, and party undertook an exploration into the Crown Mountain area in search of an elevation from which they could get a real grasp of what could be seen from the northern extremity of the park boundaries.

* * *

Getting high enough up proved quite a climb for the party, and its members saw much. The expedition took them eight days. That was in 1910. Since that time, off and on, it has been my pleasure to write "bits" about this really beautiful area, illustrating the occasional piece in more recent years with pictures furnished by the province's topographical survey.

How much interest those articles created, if any, I do not know. Nor did the visit of the Canadian Alpine Club in 1912, when its members made an ascent of Mount Elkhorn, called by some the Matterhorn of Strathcona Park, flurry its opening. In spite of what A. O. Wheeler, Victoria's noted alpinist, telling about the views from this peak, described of the physical spectacles rewarding the efforts of all taking part.

* * *

At the same time during all those 40 years or more no move has been made by government to open this magnificent area of natural loveliness for the purpose for which it was originally intended. No attempts have been made to construct roadways to allow people to get in and out comfortably. Neither were there any persistent overtures on the part of trout fishermen (God bless 'em if they can manage to have the whole area made available to the general public) to bring about such a happy state of affairs until government threatened to interfere with the fishing and incidentally despoil lovely Buttle Lake.

You see, this 18-mile stretch of water was more or less in the nature of a private fishing preserve for anyone who owned or could afford to hire a plane or a couple of packhorses to reach the lake. Let us hope, when they make their representations later this month at Courtenay and Victoria, that the fishermen can prevail upon the power commission to get its needed storage space at Upper Campbell Lake, even if it costs a bit more to do the work. Then the objectors can use their weight to have the whole park opened as a playground.

* * *

There's not much doubt, no matter what the cost would be at the present time, that it would prove good business in the long run to have an asset of such loveliness as Strathcona Park with its Buttle Lake precincts and as the government of Richard McBride envisioned when the area was set aside for park purposes. Although I am for industry and all that it means to British Columbia there's still something to be said in favor of keeping some natural beauties as they always were. Neither am I anti-trout fishing. For like Izaak Walton, I, too, have "praised God and gone a-fishing."

Strangling Initiative

By H. J. J. SARGINT

North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON Hugh Gaitskell, socialist chancellor of the exchequer, has served his party well in introducing into the House of Commons measures for dealing with what is coming to be described as the British financial crisis. Broadly speaking, Gaitskell proposes to reimpose price control on a long list of goods, to limit dividends paid by companies distributing $28,000 a year gross or more, to make an appeal for greater restraint in wage demands, and to ask the banks not to make loans or advances except for essential purposes.

Britain is faced with a new financial crisis because she has to pay much more for imports than had been expected, and because there has been further inflation at home due to rearmament, higher wages and higher dividends.

With an eye to the possibility of a general election in the fall, Gaitskell has played up to Socialist feelings by his decision to clamp down on company dividends. If there had been a similar decision on his part to clamp down on wage increases, something might have been said for such a policy, but the chancellor's mild requests to the trade unions to secure co-operation for restraint in pressing wage demands will certainly fall upon deaf ears.

* * *

Only a few days ago the general council of the Trades Union Congress declared itself unwilling to persuade its 8,000,000 members to withdraw or suspend wage claims, and, indeed, the whole policy of wage restraint was abandoned by the T.U.C. as far back as last September because of the high cost of living.

No such restraint is asked for from corporations in regard to their dividends. They are simply ordered by law to restrict the distribution of their honestly-acquired profits to the average distributed for the last two years; to 5 per cent in the case of existing companies which have paid no dividends in the last two years, and to 7 per cent in the case of new companies which want to raise capital.

The city was expecting something of this sort to happen, and the worst doubts entertained by markets during the last few days about the official attitude toward the limitation of dividends have been confirmed. Certain observers, however, remark that this measure may not come into operation after all. It is an obvious electioneering trick, they say, and though these controls are retrospective, as to legislation, owing to the crowded timetable of the House of Commons, cannot be passed until October, and anything may have happened by then.

Nevertheless, it is recognized on all sides, except in Socialist quarters, that this limitation of dividends by law without a corresponding limitation of wages is aimed quite deliberately at one class of the British people, and is a quite blatant piece of class legislation.

In his speech in the House of Commons, the chancellor made no charge against corporations. He did not accuse them of profiteering; he said that rising dividends "act as a continual irritant to the majority." In other words, if a corporation, by its ability and by the hard work of its directors and staff, makes a profit for its owners, it must be prevented by law from allocating that profit which, it should be remembered, is taxed at the rate of 50 per cent under the provisions of the budget of last April. Previously income tax on dividends was payable at the rate of 30 per cent.

This arbitrary attack on commercial income is likely to have a discouraging effect far outweighing what the chancellor described as its psychological influence. Employers and employed are being constantly urged to raise productivity. Commentators of the financial scene point out that Hugh Gaitskell deliberately takes away from the employer all incentive and that private enterprise, which still runs three-quarters of the economy of this country, finds its rewards both frozen and reduced.

"Gettysburg" in Modern Dress

AS an example of the misuse that may be made of the mother tongue, the Harvard Alumni Bulletin has published the Gettysburg address of President Lincoln, as "translated into faculty English by machine methods," by Richard D. Fay, a member of the faculty of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. This is the way it reads:

"Eight and seven-tenths decades ago the pioneer workers in this continental area implemented a new group based on an ideology of free boundaries and initial conditions of equality. We are now actively engaged in an overall evaluation of conflicting factors in order to determine whether or not the life expectancy of this group or of any group operating under the stated conditions is significant.

"We are met in an area of maximum activity among the conflicting factors. The purpose of the meeting is to assign permanent positions to the units which have been annihilated in the process of attaining a steady state. This procedure represents standard practice at the administrative level.

"From a more comprehensive viewpoint we cannot assign, we cannot integrate, we cannot implement this area.

"The courageous units, in being annihilated, who were active in this area have integrated it to the point where the application of simple arithmetical operations to the code our efforts would produce only negligible effects.

"The reaction of the general public to this colloquium will be non-essential and transitory but the reaction to the impingement of the combat group is invariant. It is for this group in being, failure to be integrated with the incomplete activities for which the combat groups were active in this area have so comprehensively effected the initial implementation.

"It is preferable for this group to be integrated with the incomplete implementation that from the standards set by these accelerated decreased units we take accelerated corrective effort, that we here resolve at a high ethical level that the deceased shall not have been annihilated without purpose, that this group under divine leadership shall implement a new concept of unhampered activity and that political supervision composed of the integrated units, for the integrated units, and by the integrated units shall not perish from the superficial area of this planet."

That U.S. Influence

(From the Massey Report)

HOW many Canadians realize that over a large part of Canada the schools are accepting tacit direction from New York that they would not think of taking from Ottawa? But for American hospitality we might, in Canada, have been led to develop educational ideas and practices more in keeping with our own way of life. It may be added that we should have been forced to produce our own educational materials — books, magazines and so forth. As it is the dependence of English-speaking Canada on the United States for these publications is excessive. In the elementary schools and high schools the actual texts may be produced in Canada, but teachers complain that far too much of the supplementary material is American, with an emphasis and direction appropriate for American children but unsuitable for Canadian.

As an illustration of the influence of even the best American material, the statement was made in one of our briefs that our city children in a grade eight class in a Canadian school, if they know all about the significance of June 6 and only seven could explain that of July 1.

WOULD COLOR SIGNS

Sir,—In view of the fact that our present speed limit signs can be easily missed by visiting motorists, I would like to suggest the use of a standardized color code to represent our different speed limits. These colors could be painted on the centre lines of all our highways; for instance, white could represent 50 miles per hour; yellow, 30 miles per hour; and red, 15 miles per hour. All speed limit signs could be painted in their own particular speed color, which would indicate to all motorists the meaning of the different colors.

MILK DELIVERIES

Sir,—The points in Mrs. Cuppage's letter are well taken. We also have voluntarily had alternate daily deliveries and find it most satisfactory for years.

With a proper spread between cash and carry and delivery prices, and with skip a day deliveries it is quite simple to obtain the odd quart or pint from the corner store if short.

The most important thing is that the savings made be passed on to the consumer. We most certainly should not be paying the same price for milk picked up at the dairies and creameries as when delivered. It costs up to 6c to deliver a quart of milk, probably more in some instances.

FRANK H. PARTRIDGE.

MILK DELIVERIES

Sir,—I advocate skip a day delivery of milk. Two years ago in a cold snap of bitter mornings and icy roads we volunteered to go on delivery only on Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays. This proposal was accepted with alacrity, and was so satisfactory that we have continued ever since. We have to think only three times a week of putting out bottles and tickets; our driveway is spared from an enormous truck, and paint on our steps gets less wear. It really makes life easier for all concerned.

With refrigerators or ice boxes in most homes preservation is no difficulty. In fact any cool place will do. Even if there should be an occasional souring, this will not mean death. Sour milk is not contaminated milk. It is wholesome, and useful in baking. Mr. Wismer's grandiose concern for the health of the people is superfluous in the case.

In a Florida resort I visited recently, with temperature averaging 90, milk was delivered on alternate days, and no complaints. Something will have to be done, and elimination of rule of fear, waste of time and material would seem to be an obvious first step.

RECALLS AUCTION OF LOTS

Sir,—In a recent issue of your paper under the heading "25 years ago" you had reference to an auction sale of city lots held under a tent opposite the Crystal Pool. This reminded me that I had one of the folders given to those who attended, and looking it up I thought some of my notes at the time giving the prices obtained for many of the lots might be of interest.

The folder, dated August 27, 1925, is described as "The Virginia Auction News," and shows a picture of Carl Pemberg, then mayor, and Charles M. Austin, the auctioneer from Seattle.

"Headlines read: "How to make money in real estate . . . by buying from good principles; buy at the low spot on the map . . . in an addition where everyone in the public will enjoy the place."

Full particulars are given as to the terms of the auction and payments, and stress is laid on the fact that taxes are paid, no local improvement charges.

An interesting comparison could be made of the auction prices in the year 1925 with probable values of today. A very old subscriber.

COOKING FISH

Sir,—Will you publish an answer to Mr. Gordon O'Briens statement in The Colonist of August 3 that "all fish served in restaurants is pre-cooked before it is ordered. That is absolutely incorrect. As far as our restaurant is concerned, he has no right to make accusations unless he can back them up. As for asking a customer how he wants his fish cooked, there is only one way to cook fish; not rare or medium rare, but just cook it.

Career Started By Crackup

By GORDON FORBES

Ask any newspaper man how he got into "the game" and he'll have some kind of story.

But Mrs. Kay Petre, motoring correspondent for The London Daily Graphic, can top most of them.

The petite Englishwoman, a member of the British press of the Austin Motor Company, might never have broken into the newspaper business if she hadn't been in a bad crackup at Brooklands race track, Surrey.

She was one of the top women racing car drivers in the country before the Second World War. In 1935, she was in the big crackup.

UNCONSCIOUS THREE WEEKS.

"My skull was cracked. I was unconscious for three weeks. When I came around I decided I'd had enough. I decided to write about racing instead of taking part. I've been a motoring correspondent ever since," she said.

During her peak as a driver, Mrs. Petre held the lap record for Brooklands track. She attained speeds averaging 131 miles an hour.

Asked how she became interested in racing, she replied:

"My husband thought I was such a bad driver it would be better if I had a car of my own. He bought me a small sport model. I guess one thing just led to another. Before long I was in the big races."

AUSTIN TEAM

Her skill soon came to the notice of racing enthusiasts, and she was asked to drive other person's cars in races. Eventually, she was chosen to drive for the Austin factory team with three men.

"Those were the happiest years of my racing career. If I burned out an engine, Austin quickly replaced it," she said.

"She was really a heroine," said Harold Nockolds, motoring editor of The London Times. "She use to wear pale blue overalls and helmet."

Mrs. Petre also held the women's record for the famous hill climb at Shelsley Walsh.

REQUESTS REFUSED

She has had many requests to drive since the end of the war, but has turned them all down.

Unlike European countries, England does not permit racing on the highways. Brooklands, she said, was not restored after the war and the perimeters of many old airfields are being used for racing.

Number of Unemployed Still Rising As Parched Forests Remain Closed

Vancouver Island's long drought is keeping thousands of persons out of work, it was pointed out yesterday as day after rainless day keeps the forests closed.

C. A. Mudge, manager of the local national employment office, said yesterday that numbers of jobless showed an unusual upward trend for this time of year.

"Major cause for the rise would appear to be loss of employment in logging and allied operations, now in its third week because of fire hazard resulting from 31 days of drought.

Fifteen thousand loggers and mill workers under provincial and general losses to industry are estimated in millions.

There are still, however, openings at the local employment office, Mr. Mudge said. Openings for qualified men in certain occupations in this area. They include plasterers, roofers, chef, waiters, engine fitters, lathe hand, sheet metal workers, moulder, boilermaker, plater, car mechanic, car, tune-up man, diesel mechanic and car washer.

Largest number of vacancies for women continue to be in the domestic and personal service field.

Competent stenographers are in demand and there are a few vacancies in sales work for women with specialized training.

Plight of British Motorist Sad One, Pastime Impossible for Working Man

Pity the poor British motorist.

Twenty-six visiting English motoring editors and trade magazine representatives agreed yesterday their plight is a sad one.

Harold Nockolds, motoring editor of the London Times, took time out to explain the situation. Said he:

"Motoring, which the people at home love, is out of the question for the average working man."

The working men who do have cars have nursed them since pre-war days and now trot them out only on the odd week-end as a special treat.

SPECIAL AFFAIR

"It's quite a special affair for most families. They eagerly look forward to a week-end drive," said Mr. Nockolds.

"Petrol," unrationed now, costs about the equivalent of 50 cents a gallon.

Are the average families buying any new cars?

"Oh, that's quite out of the question," replied the editor, a little surprised. "The purchase tax on cars is terrific."

If an Englishman decides he has enough money to buy a car, he is prohibited from reselling it for at least two years. This ruling is aimed at discouraging black market practises.

License costs are about $30 annually.

Assuming a Britisher has the money for all these things, he then has only partly surmounted the problem.

After ordering his car, he may have to wait from five to 10 years to get delivery. Years, that is.

J. F. Bramley, managing director of the Austin Export Corporation, told of the dealer who hung out this sign:

"If you want your name to go down to posterity, order your Austin now."

In the face of all this, Britons know that motorists in this country can buy English cars off the showroom floor in five minutes.

"About 75 per cent of all cars manufactured in Britain are exported," said Mr. Nockolds. "But the people know we need dollars and take it on the chin."

Sales by Austin Return $55,000,000 to Britain

Australia is the largest importer of English cars, but the smaller Canadian market is considered more important, J. F. Bramley, managing director of Austin Export Corporation, said yesterday.

The reason: Britain wants Canadian dollars.

Mr. Bramley led a party of British motoring editors here on a Canada-wide tour arranged by his company.

"Purpose of the trip is to give the motoring press an opportunity to learn first-hand how we have advanced in the export trade," he said.

The party includes representatives of daily papers and trade journals.

TRADE RELATIONS

"The tour will aid in the establishment of better trade relations between Canada and Britain, through the newsmen's stories in the British press. It also will show what Austin, Britain's largest dollar earner, is doing in Canada.

Mr. Bramley came armed with plenty of statistics.

Two out of every five British cars sold in Canada are Austins, and one out of every seven cars of all makes are Austins.

His firm is the biggest exporter of British cars. It exports 23 per cent of all the cars and trucks sent from Britain.

Canada last year imported 26,000.

A total of $55,000,000 has been returned to dollar-short Britain by the Austin car sales in this country alone.

The press party was flown to Canada to attend the Austin car show at Vancouver. The show is being presented because of this province's leadership in per capita purchase of English cars. Ontario leads Canada in volume sales.

Today, the newspapermen will drive a 13-car caravan of Austins from Vancouver to Revelstoke. They will continue to Banff the next day.

Many Hear Concert In Park

A Friday evening variety concert was staged for the first time this year in Beacon Hill Park last night. The concerts have been a park feature for three years.

Large crowds sat under trees in the park while numbers strolled around the grounds listening to the music drift through the warm evening air.

Fred Usher, who is arranging the third summer series, sets variety as the keynote for each concert.

Taking part in the show were the Hometowners playing novelty and old-time music, the George Foxcroft trio and Andrew Anderson, pianist.

Highlight of the entertainment, which last year drew crowds of 3,500 to the park, are amateur competitions divided into age groups of under 12, under 18 and over 18.

Characteristics of B.C. Pioneers Seen of Advantage in World Today

World problems could be solved if all peoples possessed the fine characteristics of British Columbia pioneers, according to Willard Ireland, provincial archivist.

Mr. Ireland told the Lions Club yesterday that B.C.'s early settlers had courage, enterprise, willingness to do a full day's work, an innate sense of justice and a fine sense of co-operation.

"In speaking of courage, I don't necessarily mean that shown by explorers, but rather that possessed by hardy and determined people who just came to British Columbia and settled here."

Today, he said, one thinks nothing of a trip across the country, or even from Europe to this land.

But early settlers of this province had to spend at least seven months aboard small ships coming from England to this coast. Such trips were filled with uncertainties and dangers. The overland journey from [illegible] hazards.

ENTERPRISE

"In those early days the enterprise displayed by our pioneers was in their ability to look at something and see what it could be. They realized only too well the vast possibilities of development."

He said that most people today don't have any idea of what constitutes a full day's work.

"People think building a home today is a tough job. When Victoria's now-famous Helmcken House was erected, hewn timbers were brought from the far end of the island, and lime was brought in from the Langford area. Laths were all hand-made."

The archivist told of British Columbia's first hospital insurance plan. A group of French settlers formed the French Benevolent Society in 1862. Members paid one dollar per month, and in turn were entitled to free medical care, and even entitled to a cut rate on drug store purchases.

The scheme was a financial success, and years later, when the Royal Jubilee Hospital was established, the French society handed over assets totaling approximately $10,000.

Festival Raffle Dropped

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said yesterday the Penticton Peach Festival raffle, which offered as first prize a trip to Hawaii, was voluntarily suspended by festival officials when they learned the draw was contrary to the Criminal Code.

Mr. Wismer said his department would not proceed with any prosecutions in regard to the matter.

"It's refreshing to find a group of citizens who are willing to recognize that there is no organization that is above the law," commented the attorney-general.

Hits Apathy Of Consumers

Apathy of consumers is one reason why prices are not forced down, Mrs. D. Davison, vice-president of the local branch of Canadian Association of Consumers, said yesterday.

Mrs. Davison was disappointed at the turnout at a recent meeting to discuss prices. Only 27 people showed up.

"It requires an organized effort to get any real action," said Mrs. Davison.

LONDON (CP) — When residents of the Hackney district complained about the high rate of taxes, the borough council did not lower them. It organized an exhibition to show just how the tax money is spent.

BULLETIN No. 9

CIVIL DEFENCE

LEARN—AND LIVE

RESCUE

After enemy attacks many lives will be endangered if well-meaning but uninformed people attempt to get friends and relatives out of wrecked buildings. It is therefore essential that everyone has an elementary knowledge of organized rescue work, enabling him to give intelligent assistance to fire, ambulance and police services, or to start rescue work independently if necessary.

Systematic Search Important—

Rescuers should approach damaged areas swiftly but without panic. One group should immediately seek accessible casualties who should be treated and removed depending on the seriousness of their injuries.

A second group should search for trapped casualties, calling out at intervals and listening for cries from the injured. Many lives have been saved by these calling and listening periods. Rescue workers must systematically search all possible sections of buildings where injured could be trapped and still living. The searching must continue until all living casualties are located. Speed and thoroughness are the main essentials.

Where to look for casualties—

Surface casualties will usually be found on the fringes of the incident. More serious casualties in conscious, unconscious and shock stages, possibly cut and bleeding and choked by dust, are usually found inside damaged buildings. These injured may be found near fireplaces, under cupboards and stairs, in basements and in voids under floors.

Danger to Rescuers—

Never cut or remove any supports in wrecked buildings until assured that no further injury will result. Remain constantly alert to the danger of gas poisoning and explosion from broken mains.

Ottawa to Be Scene Of Forestry Parley

By TOM GREEN
Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA, Aug. 3.—The sixth British Commonwealth forestry conference will be held in Ottawa beginning August 11, 1952, it was announced here tonight.

In addition to representatives from the various provincial governments and the Canadian [illegible] delegates from the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and a number of the colonies will attend. Official observers from the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization and from the United States will also be present.

The invitations have been sent out by Hon. Robert H. Winters, minister of resources and development. Purpose of the conference is to discuss forestry and forestry conservation in relation to the commonwealth countries.

Delegates coming to Canada will number from 55 to 60. There will probably be a similar number from Canada at the conference representing the Federal government, the provinces and the forestry industry.

TOUR ONTARIO, QUEBEC

The first three days of the conference next summer will be occupied with the official opening proceedings and the organization of committees. On the fourth day, the delegates and observers will leave Ottawa to tour Ontario and Quebec for 15 days.

The conference will re-convene here August 30 and continue until September 13 when it will be officially closed. But immediately after the closing, a large number of the delegates are expected to make a tour of British Columbia—and other provinces.

The first British Commonwealth forestry conference was held in England in 1920, the second in Canada in 1923, the third in Australia and New Zealand in 1928, the fourth in South Africa in 1935 and the last one in the United Kingdom in 1947.

INDIAN WARS

Fort Atkinson, a town in Minnesota, was named after a general who fought there against the Blackhawks in 1836.

George Fox, founder of the Society of Friends, or Quakers, was born in Leicestershire, England, in 1624.

Needs Official Ruling

John Barnum left seeks ruling on predicament he encountered during Tam O'Shanter All-American golf tourney at Chicago from Arch Matson of rules committee. Barnum's ball landed in sand trap on 13th hole and ended up behind cigarette package. Matson ruled packaged would be moved, so Barnum removed it and parred hole. He holds one-stroke lead at halfway mark.—(A.P. Wirephoto.)

Dogged Millmen Rally to Clinch Last Playoff Spot

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L	T	Pts.
Pitzer & Nex	16	7	0	32
Butler's Aces	14	9	1	29
[illegible]	11	10	3	25
B.C. Forest Products	8	15	2	18
Bluebird Cabs	6	15	1	13

The B.C. Forest Products certainly believe in the old saying "If at first you don't succeed . . ."

Millmen started off the Senior "A" Men'sSoftball League schedule in anything but fine form, losing nine and tying two out of their first 11 games.

But they tried and tried again and it finally paid off last night as they nipped Chinese Students 4-3 in 10 innings to clinch the fourth and final playoff position.

No one would have given much for the Millmen's chances at the half-way mark in the schedule, when they stood nine points behind fourth place. But then no one could foresee their last-half drive to win eight out of 12 games.

NO HOPE

Victory last night gave Forest Products a five-point bulge over the cellar-dwelling Cabbies. Bluebirds still have two games left to play, but even if they beat Pitzer & Nex and Forest Products the playoff would still be out of reach.

Millmen, accustomed to playing with a handicap were forced to come from behind a 3-0 deficit to pull out the win. Successive singles by Don Robinson and Jimmy John and a home run by manager-pitcher Gar Taylor gave Students all their runs in the third inning.

Millmen cut the margin to 3-2 in the bottom of the fourth on two singles and two errors. They tied the count in the next inning when pitcher Bud Ross lashed out a triple to score catcher Gordy Harvey, who had walked.

MOUND DUEL

The game then turned into a pitchers' battle between Ross and Students' Stan Tenning, who relieved Taylor in the fifth. But it was broken in the bottom of the extra inning.

Roy Logie led off with a single over second base. A wild throw by Students' catcher, Gordy Chow, who was trying to pick Logie off at first, enabled the runner to advance to third. The next two batters were intentionally walked and then Tony Bishop lofted the ball to left field and Logie scored with the winning run after the catch.

League officials were undecided last night whether to play out the remaining two games. As a result they were also undecided as to when the playoffs will start.

Playoffs have Pitzer & Nex matched with Chinese Students in one bracket and Butler's Aces and B.C. Forest Products meeting in the other. Semi-final series will be best-of-five with the finals being best-of-seven.

Sturgeon a Winner With A's at Home; Osborne Near Fame

As a manager, Victoria Athletics' Bob Sturgeon has been a huge success in Victoria.

Sturgeon and his charges returned home yesterday after a disastrous road trip which all but eliminated them from the W.I.L. Shaughnessy playoffs and promptly looked like another ball club.

END LOSS STREAK

Playing against Tri-City Braves, who had just won four in a row from them, the A's delighted about 2,000 paying customers at Royal Athletic Park by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader.

Bill Osborn tossed a one-hitter at the Braves in the seven-inning opener to record the first shutout of his professional baseball career, 6-0. In the wind-up, the Victorians backed Jim Hedgecock with some snappy infield play and timely hitting to come out on top, 13-7, with the slim southpaw just breezing after he got a huge lead.

AT HOME, .714

The double win left the A's with a 15-6 record at home under Sturgeon, but their road record in the same period reads 7-18. It gives Sturgeon a .478 overall rating as a manager, an improvement over Dick Barrett's .394 pace.

It was two tired teams who took the field last night. Both clubs had played nine games in the last six days with the A's finding time somehow to shift from Salem to Tri-City and from Tri-City to Victoria, two long jumps, between games.

After today's afternoon-evening bill, it will be 11 games in seven days, quite a chore for Victoria's mound staff, which consists of five pitchers and first-baseman Hal Jackson.

SPOILED EARLY

Osborn gave up a line single to lead-off batter Sam Kanelos in the first inning and that was all. Kanelos was immediately wiped out on a double play, and the only other Brave to reach first base was Bill Edelstein, who walked in the third. No runner reached second base.

Gene Thompson gave Osborn all the margin he needed in the first inning when he hit his third home run of the season with Jim Clark, hit by a pitched ball, and Mary Piercks, who had singled, on the bags.

GRAND SLAM HOMER

It was another home run which sewed it up in the finale. The A's scored four runs off Cy Greenlaw in the third to take a 4-1 lead, made it almost certain with five more in the fourth. Greenlaw was replaced during the second uprising by Dick Stone, who came in with one out, one run in and the bags loaded. He got Milt Martin to ground to Kanelos, forcing the runner at the plate. Then Bill White stepped up and clouted the first pitch out of the park for four runs.

White went back to right field when Ben Jaffley was sidelined with a mild attack of tonsilitis and immediately posed a problem for Sturgeon by batting in six runs on his grand-slam clout, a double and a single.

CLARK HELPS

Also in the limelight offensively was the hustling Clark, who had a triple, which touched off the four-run rally, three singles and two bases on balls in the second game and who reached base legitimately nine times out of ten in the two games. Don Pries had three hits in the last game, got to first eight times out of ten chances in both games.

Defensively, Pries, Clark and Bill Dunn, who replaced Sturgeon at second base in the second game, all came up with two or more fielding gems.

WANDERING BOY

Meanwhile, business manager Reg Patterson announced for the tenth time that Bill Carr, the phantom righthander, is en route, should report today. To fill out the roster, the A's signed Bill Prior to a contract, will have the rangy righthander ready in case he is needed or Carr again fails to show.

Entries Received

Six entries have already been received for the Colonist Cup softball knockout series. Entries will close Monday night.

Any senior "B" or senior "C" men's softball teams wishing to enter are asked to apply to Walt Summerfeldt at 650 Yates Street.

Next game, tonight: Vancouver at Nanaimo.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP) — North Shore Indians held a light pre-intercity lacrosse league playoff practise tonight but failed to work up a sweat while clubbing Nanaimo Native Sons 18-8 in a regular league fixture before 432 paying customers.

The victory preserved Indians faint chances of finishing up in either third or second place, thus averting a semi-final spot against the league-leading Victoria Shamrocks.

Indians played the entire game without earning a penalty.

After Harry Irwin gave Nanaimo a 1-0 lead after 43 seconds of the opening period, Indians slammed in 10 unanswered goals to gain a 10-1 margin by 2:51 of the second quarter.

It was Nanaimo's 10th straight defeat.

Indians outshot the Islanders 56-35 and the score would probably have equalled that total except for the durable goaltending of Nanaimo's rookie award candidate, Fred Fulla.

Top City, Mainland Pros Complete in Trials Today

Six Victorians and 10 mainland golfers will compete in the first 36 holes of the Willingdon Cup trials over two Victoria courses today. The first 18 holes will be played at the Victoria Golf Club this morning and the second 18 at the Royal Colwood Golf Club this afternoon.

Final 36 holes of the 72-hole test for places on the British Columbia provincial golf team will be played on two mainland courses tomorrow. Scores in the trials will be taken into consideration along with performances in recent tournaments in naming the four-man B.C. team.

BERTHS CONCEDED

It is generally conceded that Bill Mawhinney and Walt McElroy of Vancouver and Bob Fleming of Gorge Vale have already cinched berths off their past performances but the trio will be amongst those playing today.

Mawhinney, defending Canadian amateur champion and winner of the B.C. amateur and Vancouver and New Westminster city titles this year, is believed an automatic choice although he finished only seventh in the B.C. Closed tournament.

Fleming rates the second spot although his only major victory was in the Vancouver Island Match Play Open. He was runner-up to McElroy in the B.C. Closed and lost out to Mawhinney in an extra hole play-off in the B.C. amateur.

GIVES EDGE

McElroy's victory in the B.C. Closed gives him an edge in selections for the third place. The fourth place will be wide open with the remaining 13 contestants evenly matched and experienced in championship golf. Outstanding performance by any of them could dislodge any of the top trio from the team.

The other Victoria contestants are Gordon Verley and Bob Morrison of Uplands, Bill McColl and Vic Painter of Colwood, and George Bigelow of the Victoria Golf Club.

Remaining members of the mainland contingent are: Jack Reynolds, Bob Plommer, R. Kidd, Jack Ellis, Hugh Morrison, Percy Clogg, Lyle Hurschman and Tom Hunter.

Draw and starting times for today's rounds, with Victoria Golf Club times first mentioned, follow:

8 a.m., 2:30 p.m. — J. Reynolds and G. K. Verley.
8:07, 2:37 — B. Plommer, W. McColl and H. Morrison.
8:14, 2:44 — R. Kidd, V. Painter and J. F. Ellis, Jr.
8:21, 2:51 — H. Morrison, P. Clogg, G. Bigelow.
8:28, 2:58 — W. Mawhinney, B. Fleming and W. McElroy.
8:35, 3:05 — L. Hurschman and T. Hunter.

Millmen Lead By One Game; Beat Esquimalt

B.C. Forest Products took a one-game lead in the Senior "B" Men's Softball League playoff final by edging Esquimalt, 6-5, in 10 innings at Bullen Park last night.

Second game in the best-of-three series will be played at Upper Central tomorrow at 2 p.m.

The game was a slugging duel with the Millmen lashing out 13 hits and Esquimalt getting 14. Joe Clarkson paced Forest Products' attack with three singles and a double in five trips.

Forest Products scored the winner on a walk to George Coldwell, a stolen base and a double by Dave Patterson.

Caps Regain W.I.L. Lead With Smith 1-0 Winner

Vancouver Capilanos regained first place in the W.I.L. last night by courtesy of Victoria Athletics.

Ron Smith, sold to the Brownies last week, pitched his new club to an 11-inning, 1-0, shut-out win over Yakima Bears in the second game of a doubleheader at Vancouver and it was enough to push Spokane Indians into second place.

The Indians dropped a 7-6 decision to Tacoma Tigers and skidded one percentage point back although the Caps bowed, 3-2, to Yakima in the first game.

BRENNER COMES CLOSE

Smith held the Bears to five hits but almost came a cropper as Bill Brenner, Yakima's catcher-manager, again proved quite a problem to his former club as a pitcher.

Smith also provided his own story-book finish with a squeeze bunt which plated Charlie Mead with the run. Mead had walked and on to third on Chuck Aber-nathy's double, the fifth hit for the first-baseman. Ray Tran was walked to load the bags and set the stage for Smith.

However, Salem provided the most excitement with a near riot caused when Umpire Dick Valencourt called a balk on Salem pitcher Sal DeGeorge.

DeGeorge protested and was tossed out of the game. Fans littered the field with everything throwable. Ordered off the bench, Salem players joined in the pitching spree. Before it was all over, a petition signed by 1,000 fans was readied to be sent to league President Bob Abel. It requested that Valencourt be kept out of Salem for the balance of the season.

Two Vancouver Rinks Play Lawn Tourney Final

Play in the annual Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association tournament yesterday was confined to mixed rinks. At the close of the day two Vancouver rinks were left in the final which will be played this morning.

Those remaining are George Dewar's rink from the Terminal Club and R. A. Bindley's rink from West Vancouver.

Dewar's rink defeated that of Archie Findlay of Victoria West in the semi-finals by a 14 to 13 score. The Burnside rink skipped by Harry Jackson gave the other finalists a close run before losing by one point.

The Terminal rink consists of Dewar, George Dixon, Mrs. Berry and Mrs. Galbraith and West Vancouver, besides Bindley, has Mrs. Bindley and Mr. and Mrs. Ridge.

SEMI-FINALS

In the semi-finals Findlay was assisted by Mrs. Findlay, Mrs. McGregor and W. Davidson, while Jackson was supported by Walter Cross, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Pass.

All men's and mixed rinks finals will be staged at the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club at 9 a.m. today and the women's finals will be played at the Canadian Pacific Club at the same time.

In the afternoon there will be a grand finale of mixed rink games, and in the evening a social and presentation of prizes at the Knights of Pythias Hall.

International Flavor

Willey, Miller to Battle In Tennis Singles Final

The men's singles final in the B.C. lawn tennis championships, which conclude at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club this afternoon, will have an international flavor for the second consecutive year.

Matched in the final are top-seeded Mervin Miller of Pasadena and second-seeded Paul Willey of Vancouver. They battled through five sets in the Western Canada final at Vancouver last week before the Californian won out.

Miller reached the final yesterday because he did not know when he was beaten. He defeated Jim Marken, former Montrealer now living in Vancouver, 1-6, 9-7, 1-6, 7-5, 6-3, in a three-and-one-half hour struggle. Marken led 5-4, love 30 in the fourth set but failed four times to push over the winning points.

FOUR-SET WIN

In contrast, Willey whipped off a four-set victory over Joe Blatchford in little over an hour, winning 6-4, 6-0, 4-6, 7-5. Blatchford had trouble with his serve and double-faulted 17 times.

The women's singles final will also be an international affair with top-seeded Connie Bowan of Hollywood opposing Lois Reid of Vancouver. Miss Reid provided yesterday's surprise by upsetting second-seeded Muriel Kifer of Los Angeles, 6-1, 7-5, while Miss Bowan ousted Marilyn Kukay of Yakima, 6-1, 6-2.

OPPOSITE SIDES

Miller and Willey will also be on opposite sides in the men's doubles final. Miller and Charles Hickox of Berkeley reached the final by eliminating Macken and Jack Kramer of San Francisco, 1-6, 6-1, 6-4, 6-1. Willey and fellow-townsman Laurence Barclay gained the other finals berth by defeating Martin Halfhill, Palo Alto, and Don McKee, Burlingame, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Today's draw follows:

1:30 p.m. — Men's singles final, M. Miller vs. P. Willey. Junior Men's singles final, J. Blatchford vs. D. McKee.
2:00 p.m. — Women's singles final, Miss Bowan vs. Miss Reid. Junior Women's singles final, Miss Speed vs. Miss Pollard. Men's consolation final, D. Platt vs. J. Kramer.
3:30 p.m. — Men's doubles final, Hickox and Miller vs. Willey and Barclay. Mixed doubles semi, Miss Bean and Macken vs. Miss Kinsley and Parker. Junior men's doubles final, Blatchford and Dees vs. McKee and Halfhill. Junior women's doubles final, Miss Kingham and Miss Dimoff vs. Miss Pollard and Miss Mills.
8:00 p.m. — Mixed doubles final, Miss Bean and Barclay vs. winner of Parker-Kinsley and Reid-Macken.

New York Yankees' double-header ineptitude turned the screws tighter on the American League pennant race yesterday.

Both the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians moved within half a game of the pacesetting Yanks by winning single games after the Yanks had split a double bill with St. Louis Browns.

McDOUGALD HOMERS

Vic Raschi coasted to his 16th victory as the Yanks took advantage of the wildness of ex-teammate Tommy Byrne for an 8-4 triumph. Gil McDougald poled a two-run homer his eighth.

The Browns ruined the major league debut of southpaw Bob Wiesler in the nightcap, scoring seven runs in the fourth inning and going on to win, 10-2, for rookie Jim McDonald's first victory.

Pitcher Maury McDermott batted in four runs with a three-run homer and single to give the Bosox a 5-2 victory over Detroit.

INDIANS BEST COUSINS

Cleveland ran its victory skein over Philadelphia A's to eight straight by taking a 3-2 decision on Bob Kennedy's double in the eighth.

Minny Minoso batted in four runs to pace Chicago White Sox to a 7-4 triumph over Washington.

Ex-Dodger Hank Edwards doubled in the 14th inning and completed the circuit on a wild pitch and passed ball to give Cincinnati a 5-4 triumph over Brooklyn. The Dodgers retained a 10-game lead over New York Giants as St. Louis Cardinals rallied for five runs in the seventh to down the New Yorkers, 5-1.

Montreal Woman Hangs on to Lead In Waterlogged Round of Tourney

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 3 (CP)—Mrs. A. B. Darling, Montreal Whitlock's gallant veteran, hung grimly to her lead today through the second round of the Canadian Women's Closed Golf Championship on an 18-hole waterlogged journey for the big field which started in a miniature cloudburst and finished in a thunderstorm.

Mrs. Darling, well bundled in sweaters, shot an 81 today four [illegible] a 36-hole total of 159, two strokes ahead of the field.

The challengers from yesterday's first round just couldn't catch up. Their last chance comes tomorrow in the final round of the 54-hole tournament.

Some little Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old junior from the Lookout Point Club in Ontario, put up a great show in an effort to overhaul the veteran.

TOTAL 161

Marlene shot a one-over-par 78 in the miserable weather for a two-day total of 161, tied for the runner-up place with Mrs. Peter Patch of Montreal Whitlock who shot a consistent 81 along with her 80 of yesterday.

Miss Stewart's round was the best the field could produce and par still remains to be beaten. She was out in a fine 38, one under par. But came home in a two-over-par 40.

Miss Daintry Chisholm of Royal Montreal, only one stroke behind her pace-setting aunt yesterday with a 79, took an 85 today and dropped back to 164, tied with Miss Babs Davies of Vancouver Marine Drive.

VICTORIA WOMAN HAS 81

Mrs. J. D. Todd of Victoria moved in ahead of them with 163, four strokes away from the leaders, with an 81 today.

Consistent play by the Quebec golfers brought the inter-provincial team championship, won last year by Ontario, to this province.

The tournament was played simultaneously with the Close championship but ended after 36 holes.

Quebec finished with an aggregate medal score of 664, nine strokes better than British Columbia's quartet which nosed out Ontario for second place by a single stroke.

Team scores follow:

Quebec (664)—Miss Chisholm, 79-85—164; Mrs. Darling, 78-81—159; Mrs. Whitelaw, 84-81—165; Mrs. Smith, 91-85—176.

British Columbia (671)—Miss Davies, 81-91—166; Mrs. Edwards, 85-83—168; Mrs. Todd, 82-81—163; Miss Cleat, 89-89—178; Miss Stewart, 83-78—161; Mrs. McCarter, 88-86—174; Miss Sharp, 86-87—173.

Alberta (718)—Miss Milligan, 83-87—170; Miss Jantz, 90-89—179; Miss Hughes, 95-93—188; Mrs. Snell, 88-93—181.

Maritimes (731)—Mrs. Gordon, 91-89—180; Miss Wilson, 87-89—176; Mrs. Hodson, 88-91—179; Mrs. Rondeau, 96-96—196.

Saskatchewan (739)—Mrs. Barclay, 91-93—183; Mrs. McDougall, 86-91—177; Miss Goulet, 93-91—184; Mrs. McQuarrie, 97-98—195.

Manitoba (751)—Mrs. Edey, 85-93—178; Mrs. Mason, 96-94—190; Mrs. Magee, 93-100—193; Mrs. Down, 94-96—190.

He Did It Himself

Maury McDermott, Boston Red Sox pitcher, crosses home plate after hitting three-run homer—first of his major league career—to pace Bosox to 5-2 triumph over Detroit yesterday. Buddy Rosar (11) and Bill Goodman (10), both on base when homer came, wait with Dom DiMaggio (7) to greet McDermott. Umpire is Hank Soar.—A.P. Wirephoto.

Portland Girl Provides Kelowna Regatta Upsets

KELOWNA, B.C., Aug. 3 (CP)—Second-day pool events at the 37th annual Kelowna regatta today were spiced with upsets in the senior women's bracket as 17-year-old Sally Becker of Portland Aero Club, flashy in sprints and long distances, took over leadership in aggregate honors.

Pretty Kay McNamee of Vancouver Amateur Rowing Club, pre-regatta favorite, lost three of the four events she entered today, winning only the 200-yard free-style and just edging Miss Becker to do it.

Besides capturing the open half-mile, Sally made a convincing triumph in the 150 medley swim and placed second in two events, one of them the 200 freestyle won by Miss McNamee.

Brother Gerry McNamee raced true to form, copping three victories and grabbing a big lead in senior men's honors.

Dorothy Cook of Vancouver A.S.C., with two firsts and a second led the junior girls' aggregate for the Percy Norman Cup race.

For junior boys' honors, it was a fight between teams from Portland Aero Club and Ocean Falls with Gilbert Westwell of the former and Wilbur Campbell of the latter currently tied for first with several others packed close behind.

Results included:

Flam, Larsen Beat Mexicans In Cup Semis

RYE, N.Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—National champion Art Larsen and Herbie Flam today provided a one-two punch to give the United States a 2-0 lead over Mexico in the semi-finals of the American zone Davis Cup tennis competition.

Larsen was forced to go all out to conquer 27-year-old Armando Vega, 7-5, 6-3, 1-6, 7-5.

Flam easily whipped 22-year-old Mario Llamas, the Mexican singles champion, in 55 minutes, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

If the Americans prevail, as expected, they will qualify to meet the Canada-Cuba victor for the American zone title.

Leonard in Top 30

Barnum Wobbles, Clings To Lead of One Stroke

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—John Barnum, the big golfer with the tiny reputation, today staggered through a second-round blow up from an opening 64 to a two-over-par 74, but still clung to a half-way lead of one stroke in the $15,000 all-American pro tourney today.

Hard on the heels of the strapping pace-setter, who wobbled to a 36-hole total of 138, were four players bracketed at 139. These included the 1947 United States Open champion, Lew Worsham; Fred Hawkins, Ted Kroll, and Al Besselink. Besselink's 34-34—68 was the day's best round. Still in the running only two strokes behind were four 140 shooters, including the host pro and year's leading money winner, Lloyd Mangrum.

Also bracketed at 140 were Cary Middlecoff, 1949 U.S. Open champion; Lawson Little, 41-year-old veterin, both with 69's today, and Tommy Bolt, who poked a 72.

Defending champion Bobby Locke of Johannesburg, South Africa, wound up five strokes off the pace in the 143 bracket as he registered a 72 after an opening 71.

ONE UNDER PAR

Stan Leonard of Vancouver scored a second-round 71 one under par to join the top 30 players. With Thursday's 73, Leonard posted a total of 144 for the first 36 holes.

In the concurrent all-American Amateur, defending champion Frank Stranahan culled a 73 after an opening 66 and held a seven-stroke lead with 139 over Harold Foreman, Jr., of Chicago.

The all-American Women's Open reached the half-way mark with defending champion Babe Zaharias two strokes in front. Mrs. Zaharias, for the second straight day, rapped a 76 for a 36-hole aggregate of 152. Beverley Hanson is runner-up with a 79 and 154.

Soccer to Open on Time As Strike Scare Fades

LONDON, Aug. 3 (Reuters)—British soccer will hang out a "business as usual" sign when the season opens August 18 despite a strike scare which has filled headlines during recent weeks.

The July 31 deadline for contract-signing has come and gone; and most of the football league's luminaries have agreed to 1951-52 contracts.

Trouble arose when league clubs decided at their annual meeting to alter the validity of annual contracts from August to August to July to July—in other words, bringing forward by 31 days the annual resigning date.

Jimmy Guthrie, chairman of a players' union which numbers some 3,000 soccer players, called on all his men not to re-sign, claiming the move hampered players' attempts to improve their terms of contract.

DEMAND LIFTED

Many observers considered the league schedule would be delayed by the wrangle. But, following talks among the labor ministry, the union and the clubs, Guthrie lifted his demand a few days ago and players have flocked to get back onto the dotted line.

Earlier, the clubs had voted to raise from £12 to £14 the weekly maximum players' wage during the season. The off-season maximum stayed at £10.

Among the first to re-sign during the scramble after Guthrie gave the green light was Stan Matthews of Blackpool, the "wizard of dribble," who generally plays right wing on England's international teams.

Others to rejoin their clubs before the deadline were England forwards Stan Mortensen and Tom Finney, and most of the rest of the country's front-line players followed suit.

But several notables stayed out. Bradford's outside left Bill Elliott, valued at £20,000, is still a holdout. So is Albert Stubbins, Liverpool centre forward.

Two Chelsea men, Hugh Billington and Danny Winter, have jumped to Worcester City in the southern league. Worcester has also bagged non-signers Ted Duggan of Queen's Park Rangers, Fred Newman of Blackpool, Peter Donnelly of Birmingham and Jack Flavell, Eddie Wilcox and Norman Allsop of West Bromwich Albion.

Another southern league club, Barry Town, has raided Chelsea for inside forward Fred Jenkins and winger Charles Dykes. Also on the Barry roster are Welsh centre forward Stan Richards of Swansea Town and Scottish inside Tom Kiernan, late of St. Mirren and Stoke City.

These defections have cost the football league players worth an estimated £100,000 but the danger of a major soccer holdup appears ended.

LONDON (CP)—A new publication listing London's geographical features notes London has 167 parks and 13 separate rivers, but nine of the rivers are ancient underground streams.

Cubans Cool Their Heels As Matches Rained Out

MONTREAL, Aug. 3 (CP)—Cuba's Davis cuppers chafed in hotel rooms today as rain washed out the opening singles matches of the North American zone tie.

Canada's three-man squad lounged about the Mount Royal clubhouse as a torrential downpour drenched the two grass courts which were partially covered by tarpaulins.

The Canadians, Lorne Main and Brendan Macken, meet Joe (Pepe) Aguero and Dr. Juan Weiss respectively in singles play tomorrow. Doubles play will be held Sunday and two more singles Monday.

CALLED OFF

The teams waited until noon at the clubhouse when the official announcement by umpire-in-chief Charlie Leslie of Montreal called the matches off.

Meanwhile, the railbirds were speculating that Macken and 28-year-old Henri Rochon of Montreal would be Macneil's selection for Sunday's doubles play against Aguero and Weiss. But the Canadian captain spiked that with a hint that he was "considering Main and Rochon." He said also that Macken and Main, who reached the quarter-finals in doubles at the recent tournament at Wimbledon, "are not to be ignored as possibilities."

Champ Asked To Aid Man Who Beat Him

SPOKANE, Aug. 3 (AP)—Champion Jersey Joe Walcott was asked today to help out in a benefit for an ailing and aging heavyweight who has beaten him twice.

Promoter Jack Powers offered Walcott $600 and expenses to put in an appearance at a benefit for Tiger Jack Fox, left speechless and virtually paralyzed by a stroke two months ago.

The benefit matches heavyweights Willie Bean and Kid Riviera here August 14. All the proceeds will go to Fox, now penniless and crowding 50. Fox knocked out Walcott in eight rounds in 1937 and decisioned him in 1938.

ALCOS' LINE-UP

Alcos' line-up for the cricket match against Oak Bay at Macdonald Park today follows: Day, Jagger, Twamley, Neal, Moss, Wilkinson, Scroggs, Davison, Connors, Elliott, Boyes, Teasdale (reserve).

Golf— Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Without seeing the flight of the ball and observing only the player when his hands are hip-high in the follow-through, as pictured, you can tell with amazing accuracy what happened on the shot. Now, look at the player pictured again. His left side is virtually a straight line. His weight is forward. His forward hip and shoulder pivot are virtually completed, and note this, although his hands are hip-high in the follow-through, he is still get that still looking at the spot where the ball was. "X" marks the spot. This player's shot with wood. I say wood, because of the width of his open stance has traveled 240 yards straight down the fairway. If I had seen this shot, I would expect to see his ball hook faintly just at the far end of the flight, then roll, due to its overspin, for nice additional straight line yardage. Golf form tells the story. If you have good golf form as this player has, you can't help but play well. And enjoy the 19th hole celebration.

Lagging Railroad Issues Block Wall Street Rise

By A.P. and C.P.

Lagging railroad issues and week-end profit-taking yesterday kept the New York Stock Market from continuing its thrust toward another bull market high.

An early upward trend soon petered out.

There were some notable advances that gave the market an appearance of sturdy strength, but for the most part it spread out over a range of a little more than a dollar either way.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained unchanged at $96.70, $1.10 less than the year's high.

Volume receded sharply to 1,570,000 shares, as compared with 2,130,000 shares Thursday.

TORONTO MIXED

Toronto Stock Market prices settled mixed and trendless after a two-day flurry of interest in base metals.

Spotty trading in a small group of base metals and western oils relieved an otherwise slow session. Volume was about 1,500,000 shares.

No industrial group moved decisively.

MONTREAL QUIET

Securities eased to a narrowly mixed price path near the close on the Montreal Stock Exchange as the market closed quiet. Trading continued quiet.

Advances and declines were about evenly distributed with a number of issues remaining unchanged.

VANCOUVER FIRMS

Firm oil prices were posted toward the close of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, but base metals were mixed. Golds held steady.

WINNIPEG EASES

Coarse grains futures trading showed an easier tone on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, in sympathy with a decline in group of base metals and United States grain prices.

London Market Forges Ahead

LONDON, Aug. 3 (Reuters).—The stock exchange made a satisfactory showing today, particularly in domestic stocks.

Among industrials, heavy and light engineering groups went ahead under the influence of persistent investment support. British Government securities were in fair demand, the nationalization stocks being particularly singled out. Numerous sizeable switching operations took place among the medium-dated issues.

The foreign bond market was quiet. Japanese were mainly easier on profit-taking and some switching into German bonds in which a big turnover was again reported.

Oil shares were mostly a few pence better. Mining shares were steady as were rubbers in quiet dealings.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 74s 3d; Boots Pure Drug 26s 6d; Canadian Pacific $59; Central Mining £2 3-32; Consolidated Gold Fields 45s; Courtaulds 47s 3d; Hudson's Bay Co. 117s 6d; Imperial Chemical 50s; Metal Box 50s 9d; Mexican Eagle 26s 3d; Rand Mines 135s.

Bonds: 2½ per cent Consols £65⅞; British 3½ per cent War Loans £87⅛; British Funding 4s 1960-1990 £103½.

CULTURAL AGREEMENT

NEW DELHI (CP) — A cultural agreement has been signed between India and Turkey to promote closer relations between the two countries by exchange of students, teachers and workers from scientific, cultural and industrial institutions.

LIVERPOOL, England (CP). — Finding that 29,000 street lamps and 2,000 electric bulbs had been smashed in the last few months, council arranged to make a film showing the damage total.

LONDON (CP). — Mrs. Emma Langley, 86, won a beauty contest in Paddington. She was selected from 90 entrants at a "Darby and Joan" competition in connection with a flower show.

Foreign Exchange

MONTREAL, Aug. 3 (CP). — The American dollar today closed at 5 3-16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, down 7-32 from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.05 3-16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.94½, down ¼ from Thursday.

Industry Continues To Boom

British Columbia's commercial and industrial life apparently is continuing to go ahead in high gear.

But economists stress that when provincial statistics catch up with B.C.'s 50-day drought, a substantial slump will be indicated in the level of business.

Industrial contracts for the first six months are more than triple the number for the same period of 1950.

Dollar value of retail sales in B.C. for May showed an increase of 10.1 per cent over last May. Retail sales for the first five months of the year are 16.6 per cent higher than during the corresponding period of 1950.

EXPORTS RISE

Value of exports through B.C. ports during May reached a record high of $56,960,693. Imports for April totaled $27,604,569.

Sales of B.C. wholesalers in May, 1951, were 18.19 per cent greater than a year ago and 6.2 per cent greater than during the previous month.

Sales of electricity and gasoline during May showed advances of 8.99 per cent and 11.58 per cent respectively over May, 1950.

New passenger car sales were down sharply from 3,363 in May, 1950, to 2,129 in May of this year. Credit restrictions are regarded as the main reason for this drop.

HOME BUILDING

New residential construction for the first five months of the year registered a drop from the total for the corresponding period of last year.

There were 2,195 dwelling units started in the period January 1 to May 31, compared with 2,724 in the same period in 1950. At the end of May there were 5,507 dwelling units under construction in B.C. compared with 7,102 at this date a year earlier.

Index Climb Revives Pleas For Controls

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP). — Labor leaders and housewives here today called for government action to halt price spirals.

Business men, however, held to their stand that increased production is the answer to inflation.

The new demands follow publication of the increased cost-of-living index.

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. member for Vancouver East, indicated the whole opposition will probably press for action at the next session of parliament.

Labor leaders indicated there would be renewed demands for both price controls and more wages.

"Labor will probably hammer both for price controls and more wages — it's inevitable," said Tom Alsbury, president of the Vancouver and District Trades and Labor Council.

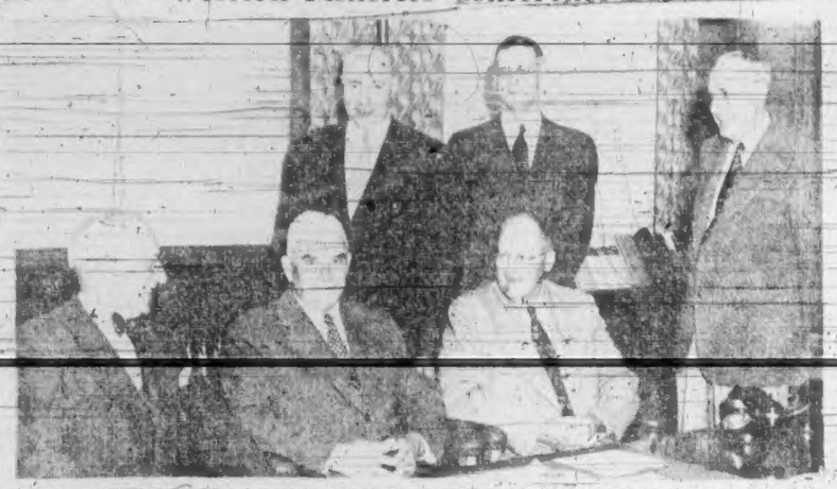
Ralph D. Baker, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, told of industry's stand against controls:

"They simply built up a dam over which demand inevitably spills, regardless of how high the dam is built by subsidy or other subterfuge."

BUSY POST OFFICE

LONDON (CP). — During the past year the United Kingdom's post office staff collected, sorted, transported and delivered about 8,450,000,000 letters and 243,000,000 parcels.

Western Fisheries Conference Set



C. Gordon O'Brien chats with Premier Byron Johnson about first Fisheries Council of Canada conference to be held east of Ottawa. It will be held in Vancouver next April. Shown here are Francis Millerd, president of the council; Premier Johnson, Mr. O'Brien, manager of the council; J. M. Buchanan, chairman, salmon canners' operating committee (left, back row); R. Sinclair, director fisheries council, of J. H. Todd, Victoria, and George Alexander, provincial deputy minister of fisheries.—(Colonist photo by W. Atkins.)

NO. 198—NINETY-THIRD YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1951 SECOND NEWS SECTION

Informal Garb Popular With City Youngsters on Hard Times Day

It's a tough life these days for hobos, vagabonds, beggars and bootblacks. Some of them even find it hard to find enough clothing to keep body and soul decently covered. Not quite as bad as it sounds, children pictured were simply having a wonderful time in Oak Bay playgrounds on "Hard Times Day." Kenneth Irwin, Hugh Pite and John Pugdin, all of Willows School were three first-prize winners in the fun at the Willows Beach Park.

Barbara West, Joan Meredith and Marilyn Lacey were also three first prize winners at "Hard Times Day." Mrs. L. Lucas, playground supervisor, says 265 children are registered and that there is an average attendance each Friday of 175 children. Previous Fridays, children have come dressed as Indians, pirates, old people, have had decorated vehicle competitions and held picnics.

It seems that times are no better in Windsor Park than at the Willows, for it too was full of a ragged collection of bogus waifs. Windsor Park prizewinners are Florence Hall, Monterey School; Derek Erb of St. Christopher's School and Pat Walls of Monterey School. Another prizewinner, Michael Gerry also of Monterey, is not pictured. Mrs. Donald McKee, Windsor Park playground supervisor who shepherded the happy children said it was apparent youngsters thrive on adversity.

Rats Clubbed for Sport

Old Building Once Haven For Rich

By JIM NESBITT

— Civil authorities, unable to make up their minds what to do with Prince Robert House, are dealing with a building once one of the famous clubhouses on the Pacific Coast.

It was equal in elegance and prestige to the clubs the bonanza kings of California built atop San Francisco's Nob Hill.

Prince Robert House was built in 1889 by the Union Club which was established in 1879 in a dingy room over Van Voorst's butcher shop at Yates and Government.

The Colonist of May 1, 1885, told Victoria of the new club house: "Now that the scaffolding has been removed and every thing placed in its shape the building stands fixed to be a very handsome structure and an ornament to the city. When furnished complete the building will have cost in the neighborhood of $40,000."

M. W. Tyrwhitt Drake was president when the Union Club moved into its fine new building which had an Victoria blessing with Hon. C. E. Pooley was vice-president and J. C. Eaves secretary. Trustees were Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie, W. C. Ward and C. W. R. Thomson, general committee being D. M. Eberts, F. S. Barnard, Joseph W. Wilson, Joshua Davies, Silas Heaven, J. C. Davie, G. H. Barnes and W. Charles.

The Union Club was a famous and quiet gathering place for the famous gentlemen of Lordon's St. James street. But there was one drawback. The place was overrun with rats. It was disconcerting when sipping afternoon tea in front of a fireplace to have a rat big as a cat suddenly dart across the carpet.

Former Attorney-General Harry Pooley recalls that after every poker game the members armed themselves with their walking sticks and advanced on the kitchen. Sometimes 30 rats were killed in an hour. Walking sticks were the only weapons allowed.

"The night we left for our club for the new one-fitted the cook set 100 traps and caught 103 rats," Mr. Pooley recalls. "They came from the livery stables next door."

The Union Club's original by-laws are interesting. The entrance fee was to be $5. The monthly subscription was to be $2. No secretarian nor political discussion was to be permitted in the club. No letter or communication for any newspaper shall be dated from the club. No smoking allowed in the reading room nor in the lunch room till after 4 p.m. The club is to be opened at 11 a.m. and at 9 a.m. the gas is to be turned off."

The late Sir Frank Barnard in his memoirs recalled the old days of the Union Club. Dues, the first year, 10 cents were set. In the second year a lunch was served at a cost of 50 cents. It was customary for every year for the members to meet at the annual club dinner. This practice however was discontinued and the annual club bun substituted. There is no effort to propitiate the fair sex who were treated to the dinner because they were debarred.

NO DICE

The original by-laws prohibited use of dice in the club. Sir Frank wrote: "This was inserted at the last meeting at the request of the Chief Justice Begbie who had a weakness for the dice box. The oldtimers who patronized the bar well remember that having to dice to stake for drinks bans contained from one to six were rattled out of a leather bottle, the member receiving the smaller being elected to pay for the drinks.

In two World Wars the old Union Club was home away from home for servicemen. From 1914 to 1918 it was the Veterans of France Club. In 1940 the Navy League took it over for a sailors' club and called it after the two wars, as HMCS Prince Robert.

DANK, MUSTY

Between wars it was a veterans' beer parlor, dank and musty. Old soldiers sat in what was once the beautiful billiard room without any windows, only skylights, and they toasted their toes before the tiny black fireplaces where once rich and comely men found relaxation before going home to their dances.

Police Seek City Alarmist

City police are looking for a Victorian, probably in his teens, who thinks sending police on a wild goose chase is fun.

Police received a call at 3:25 p.m. yesterday from a person who refused to give his name, that there was a hold-up at the CPR ticket office.

Three policemen rushed to the scene only to find everything in order.

Butter Importing May Halt Boosts

Government plan to import New Zealand butter may halt serious price increases next winter, retailers here report.

Dealers expressed no concern over the federal government move announced by Agriculture Minister James Gardiner. He said negotiations are under way to bring in [illegible] or more pounds this year to offset a growing butter shortage.

Dealers here said all butter for Vancouver Island has to be imported.

Butter manufacturing industry is dead on Vancouver Island, said A. G. Lambert, president of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association. "Very little is manufactured on the mainland," he added.

Imported butter will be in the hands of a dairy products board, the government said.

First Horsemeat Store To Open Here in Week

Victoria's first horsemeat store, the Trojan Market, 610 Market Street, will probably open a week from today, S. F. Showers, proprietor, said yesterday.

Two tons of horsemeat are already in cold storage here, and more is coming.

Supplies come from Swift Current. Prices will range from 32 to 63 cents a pound, slightly higher than in Vancouver because of freight charges.

Lampson Street School Overcrowded

J.F.K. English Adamant In Transfer of Children

About 55 children are going to be transferred from Lampson Street School to Victoria West School this fall despite their parents' protests.

Overcrowded conditions, with classes of 45 instead of 30 to 35 at the Lampson School have made the transfer necessary, according to J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools.

Parents had objected to the transfer because of the longer distances some children would have to travel to school and because of heavy traffic in the vicinity of Victoria West School.

Only children in Grades I, II and III are affected by the move.

The practise of children of the lower three grades attending different schools is common in British Columbia, according to Mr. English. A similar situation exists at Quadra primary school in this city where only the first three grades are taught.

One New Case Reported Of Newcastle Disease

One new case of Newcastle disease was reported in British Columbia this week but the area has not been identified.

Dr. T. Childs, veterinary director general, Ottawa, said reports covering the new case are not complete.

Vaccinated during the week, however, were 55 poultry flocks containing 23,628 chickens and two flocks containing 900 turkeys.

In 1950 Newcastle disease hit Vancouver Island in epidemic proportions necessitating the destruction of hundreds of flocks.

When the disease is suspected, government officials investigate immediately. A clinical diagnosis is carried out and if Newcastle disease is present in only one bird, the entire flock is destroyed.

Twelve flocks comprising 1,483 chickens were destroyed in Alberta this week. Compensation was $1,558.

No flocks were destroyed in Ontario, Quebec or the Maritimes but three flocks in Saskatchewan and four flocks in Manitoba were destroyed.

Postal Workers Picnic Guests

DUNCAN, Aug. 3. — Postal workers from a number of island points will be the guests of the Nanaimo and Port Alberni post office employees at a Sunday picnic at Parksville.

Pension Forms Filled by 3,000

AROUND TOWN

More than 3,000 persons have made application here for the federal government's new old-age pension plan, officials of the Department of Health and Welfare, Old-Age Security Branch, said yesterday.

Pensions of $40 a month will be paid to all persons over 70 years of age. Payments are slated to start next year.

Application forms can be obtained at the post office. Officials there said more than 200 persons requested forms yesterday morning.

CITY WOMAN ON COUNCIL

Miss C. H. Aylard of Victoria has been elected to the council of the Skyline Trail Hikers' Association.

Election took place following the association's annual meeting at Banff. Some 60 hikers from Canada, the United States and other parts of the world took part.

Fir Cone Crop Halved

Bumper Crop of Douglas fir seeds expected earlier in the year has not materialized, it was learned yesterday from officials of the BC Forest Service.

In May and June indications pointed to a yield of [illegible] bushels of cones from trees growing on the islands east of [illegible]. It was expected the crop would be worth about $15,000.

Now it is doubted whether the crop will be worth more than $5,000.

Officials said the summer drought may have had an adverse effect on the crop.

The forest service will begin harvesting the crop on Crown lands, principally in the Campbell River area in about a week. Teenage boys under a foreman will pick the cones. They will be paid $1 a bushel.

In addition the forest service will pay $1.50 a bushel to stump operators and other island settlers for their cones.

All cones are handled at a special plant at Chemainus before being sent to the seed extractor plant on Lulu Island.

The forest service also will gather hemlock and cedar seed in October.

Seeds collected by the forest service are used in reforestation projects.

Forest service officials said the harvest of Douglas fir seeds will be delayed if the closure of forests is not lifted soon.

Central Saanich To Add Truck

Central Saanich [illegible] fire department will get another fire truck in the near future and a third is under consideration, Reeve Sydney Pickles said yesterday.

The new truck now under construction will be of the pumper type, capable of handling [illegible] gallons of water a minute.

It will be used to support the 800-gallon tanker type now in operation.

Reeve Pickles said a [illegible] tanker type [illegible] handling 1,000 gallons of water is now under construction.

I.W.A. Overtime Policy May Be Set at Meeting

Before loggers work overtime a policy will be established by the district executive council of the International Woodworkers of America at [illegible].

The policy is expected at an executive meeting later this month at Vancouver, I.W.A. officials here said.

Overtime is sought by operators in an attempt to boost daily supplies and reserves to mills, seriously threatened by the general forest closure due to prolonged dry weather.

Mill operators this week suggested loggers be allowed by the union to work six or seven days a week at time-and-a-half pay rates. Union leaders were reported to have rejected the suggestion but said a policy had not been set by the executive at that time.

Man Released On $150 Bail

NANAIMO, Aug. 3.- Donald J. McGroman has been released on $150 bail pending hearing of a charge of drunken driving to which he pleaded not guilty in police court.

A car in which McBroman said he was a passenger, was involved in an accident.

Labor Expert To Give Talk

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 3 - Ruth Taylor of Washington, D.C., labor relations authority, and author of "Who's Who in Labor," and "Human Relations in Industry" will speak in Port Alberni September 2, during the Paul Bunyan Day celebrations, sponsored by I.W.A. Local 1-85.

In a letter to J. Clayton Wallis, manager director of the celebration Miss Taylor said she is looking forward to her visit.

High-Prices Close Four Meat Shops

At least four Victoria butcher shops have closed permanently because of high prices, according to Reg Williams, president of the Retail Butchers' Association.

He said several [illegible] part-time purchasing slump of the public was also a factor.

Shops affected were one-man operations, it was said.

Fifteen retail shops closed in Vancouver for the same reason, Canadian Press reported. Some of the stores will reopen next month but others will not attempt to operate against current prices, it was reported.

Reports that meat prices might fall in three or four days were termed "premature" by one butcher. The appearance of grass-fed cattle from the interior and the prairies was believed to expect the price cut predictions. It was not expected that the cattle would reach the local markets at least for another two weeks.

PENSIONERS MEET

Vard Pensioners Association Ont. 3 branch will hold their monthly meeting Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the K of P hall.

Part of the business will be registration for the annual excursion.

City to Get Advice On Smoke Nuisance

D. R. FRASER, provincial inspector of boilers and machinery will confer with city council's legislative committee Monday afternoon on the city's smoke and cinder nuisance.

The committee is expected to hear advice from Mr. Fraser, who recently said his department is willing to help city officials.

Several mill operators have written to the city outlining their views on the problem. These will be discussed at the meeting. The anti-smoke by-law draft probably will be discussed but action is not expected until a new heating code is framed.

There is a possibility the [illegible] of smoke inspector and heating inspector may be combined.

Victorians Enjoy "Dancing on Green"

Sore feet and perspiring brows were commonplace last night as regular Friday night dancing on the green was held at Central Park. Mrs. C. W. Monroe found dancing hard on the feet. She received sympathy from Charles Hastings. "Caller" is Hugh McNevin.

Many types of costumes were evident. Men showed up in shorts and business suits, women in peasant skirts and blue jeans, along with soldiers and sailors in uniform.—(Colonist photos by Jim Ryan.)

Journalists Guests at Yacht Club Party

British journalists in Canada on a two-week tour of the country had a busy schedule for their one-day visit to Victoria. Arriving at Patricia Bay airport yesterday morning the visitors were taken by motor across the Mill Bay ferry and over the Malahat to Victoria. Following a luncheon at the Empress Hotel they visited Plimley Motors and were guests at a cocktail party at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club before being whisked away to the airport to board a plane at 7:30 to return to Vancouver. They will leave early this morning by motor for Revelstoke where they will spend the night on the way to Banff for one day. Pictured above at the Yacht Club, from left to right, Mrs. P. M. A. Thomas of the Motor Transport Magazine; Premier Byron I. Johnson, Mr. Geoffrey Imeson, assistant editor, Reuters, London; Mrs. Johnson, Mr. P. L. Stoba of S. H. Benson; and Mr. W. H. Lynas of the Illustrated London News.

Another group pictured at the party for the journalists included, standing, Mr. Cyril Wightman, general manager of Victoria Press Limited, Mr. F. Whitehead, deputy editor of the Birmingham Gazette, and Capt. A. de M. Mellin, general manager of Thos. Plimely Ltd. Front row, Mr. G. S. Thomas, editor of the Motor Trades Magazine; Mrs. Wightman, Mrs. de M. Mellin, and Mrs. Kay Petre, motor editor of the Daily Graphic only woman member of the party.

Doctors Tell Queen to "Take It Easy"

LONDON, Aug. 3 (UP)—British court circles said tonight that Queen Elizabeth has been told by doctors to take it easy on the eve of her first birthday.

The wife of King George VI, who spent her most gracious years behind the palace gates, looks forward to public functions only a few days a month.

The verdict of the royal physicians is that the former Lady Elizabeth Angela Margaret Bowes-Lyon who became Queen in December, 1936, after the mercifully short reign of King Edward VIII, has been "overdoing it" to make up for the king's absence from public life.

NOW MIDDLE AGED

It is feared that the public duties crowded with her work as Queen of Britain are becoming too much for the middle-aged Scottish lass.

Doctors say the cause for concern stems from the fact that Elizabeth is now middle-aged. She never is known to have been ill in her life. But she has been told by her own doctors to go on doing too much.

Doctors in waiting to the mother of Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret recently have detected a weariness in the Queen which news cameras do not catch.

HELPING THE KING

Queen Elizabeth, five-foot-two inches, has been rated as an ideal wife and queen for the highly strung King George. She is credited with helping the king overcome the stammer which plagued him for so many years.

One friend who has known her more than 30 years said:

"I have never known anyone who is so consistently kind and gracious. Her Majesty is never flustered and I don't believe she has a temper.

"She never expected or even wanted to be queen. It is a truly and exceedingly trying and difficult job.

ALWAYS A SMILE

She has gone through so much in the last few years, yet she never complains and somehow always manages to smile.

The queen has a fresh, rose complexion. She used to apply her own make-up employing a professional expert only on special occasions.

Today a wet and heavy expert eases on her to do the make-up for Elizabeth who must so often face the public.

Her hair, which is done in a soft upward style by Charles Line, Mayfair, London, is also touched up occasionally. Dame Sybil Thorndike, Mrs. Churchill's cousin, is a frequent visitor to the Buckingham Palace hairdressing salon.

"Mr. Henry," when the court is at Balmoral, Scotland, as it is now until October 23, goes there by airplane each week giving the queen a weekly shampoo, hair-set and occasional tint.

IDEAS ABOUT CLOTHES

Queen Elizabeth has set ideas about her clothes. Palace sources say that she is aware that some of her outfits sometimes shock the fashion conscious. Yet she is adamant in dressing the way she believes a queen is expected to do that is, elegant.

This she clings to feathers not unlike Queen Mother Mary who is famous for her big old-style hats. The queen considers feathers feminine and she also sticks to the less high-heeled, king-back shoes.

Why such shoes? She says they give her height and are comfortable too.

NO INTEREST IN DIET

Her evening gowns are delicately designed as a setting for her magnificent jewelry. Once she read a report criticizing her advisers for allowing her to appear in outfits that emphasize her plumpness. The queen is said to have remarked:

"What nonsense anyway I have no desire to be a leader of fashion."

The queen shows not the slightest concern about her plumpness and considers dieting injurious to health. The only concession she ever made was to skip the sugar in her tea.

Once, it is said, did the queen ever look at a diet sheet. This was before her 1939 tour of Canada and the United States.

When she discovered the slimming would deprive her of all her favorite dishes she said the royal equivalent of "nuts to that."

Give Advice To Avoid Rough Hands

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP)—London beauty parlors are doing good business with new courses designed to cure what they call "rough hands."

Visitors to the Bond street salons spend a glorious hour or so in the hands of experts who massage, manicure and polish their hands. But they soon find that the effect does not last.

Now they are told that regular home treatment with creams and lotions will keep their hands soft and white.

"Housewives' hands" is treated by a cream instead of soap and water. The cream gradually eats the dirt from cracks in the fingers. Nails are strengthened by the non-use of nail varnish for at least six months and special preparations are used to guard against splitting.

No. 1 priority in the treatment is the use of rubber gloves.

Garden Party At Cowichan

LAKE COWICHAN, Aug. 3.—The annual garden party of Stanley Gordon Chapter I.O.D.E. was held on Thursday afternoon on the grounds of the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Agar. Mrs. J. E. T. Sanders, regent, welcomed the guests.

There were stalls of home cooking, fancywork articles and a fish pond. Tea was served. Prizes were won by Miss Sheila Boyd, Vancouver, Mr. Frank Mrs. Linn Island, and Miss B. Fowler, Lake Cowichan.

More Women Wear Furs

MONTREAL, Aug. 2 (CP)—Ten times more women wear fur coats today than 25 years ago, a leading Montreal furrier said yesterday.

Frank Alexander, addressing a service club, said the reason why more women wear fur coats is that are a lot cheaper than in grandma's time.

"Twenty years ago mink coats were up to the $10,000 and up bracket," he said.

Modern production methods, improved breeding and modern merchandising have ended the fantastic prices on furs, he added.

LONDON, Miss., Aug. 3 (UP)—Even cowboys' bare legs will not be permitted at the summer concerts given here by the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Ushers will hand out wrap-around skirts to women who show up in shorts.

Tanglewood officials also said they would prefer that women not attend the concerts in slacks either.

Beauty and You

BY PATRICIA LINDSAY

An orangewood stick, cotton, cuticle remover and a nail brush are all you need to keep your cuticle smooth, lovely and neat.

But you should use three of them every day and the fourth [illegible] each manicure.

Begin with the manicure. After soaking your fingertips in soapy water, dry them and apply the cuticle remover with the cotton-tipped orange stick. Let it remain for a couple of minutes and then scrub off with nail brush in soapy water. Nip off any hangnails, but do not cut cuticle. When the cuticle becomes withered the cuticle remover will take care of it as well as push it off. If you cut or tear your cuticle you will not [illegible] it but you will [illegible] two hard manicures which will [illegible] your sister use and [illegible] grooves.

For each day, push back your softened cuticle with one cotton tipped [illegible] stick after you have [illegible] your fingertips with soap [illegible] a nail brush.

Not much of a routine but there you have it. Your cuticles will be lovely to look at.

[illegible] should be of good quality steel and they should be sharpened at least twice a year by a cutlery firm or one who understands how to sharpen good steel correctly. If they are not sharp they are likely to pull the cuticle or tear it instead of nipping it off cleanly.

Most women like to carry nail polish down to the base of the nail. This is all right and it is pretty, but if you apply it yourself make certain that you don't [illegible] the cuticle with the [illegible] polish. There should be a thin rim of the nail all around the base free of nail polish so the cuticle will not be affected.

Tickets are now on sale for the exhibition baseball game at Royal Athletic Park Monday between Victoria Athletics and the Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League.

The game will mark the first appearance of a P.C.L. team in Victoria and the Beavers have announced that they will start their strongest [illegible] received yesterday has Eddie Barr, centre field; Ed Basinski, second base; Leo Thomas, third base; Brooks Holder, left field; Joe Brovia, right field; Joe Rossi, catcher; Frank Austin, shortstop; Joe Lafata, first base; and Vince DiBiasi, pitcher.

Pitcher Larry Ward and Lillo Marcucci, both former Athletics, may see action later in the game.

Opposes Club On West Coast Joining Majors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (INS) — Minor league boss George M. Trautman today threw cold water on the prospects for moving a major league baseball franchise to the West Coast.

Trautman, testifying before the house monopoly committee, also declared that radio and television coverage of major league games is threatening the existence of the minors.

He told the house group that if a major league franchise were shifted to a western city such as Los Angeles or San Francisco, the rest of the clubs in the existing Pacific Coast League "would have to fold."

The minor league "czar," however, gave encouragement to the Pacific Coast league in its efforts to end the draft of its players by the majors.

He remarked: "I think this will come about. I'm a member of the committee and I have great sympathy with their view out there."

Police Make Second Arrest In Race Probe

FORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 3 (CP) — Wagering tickets of a mysterious "lady in black" were seized today when police arrested a man who tried to cash them at Fort Erie race track.

The woman, so dubbed last week after winning a reported $5,000 on races here, still is unidentified. Provincial and R.C.M.P. officers closed in on the man as he presented tickets valued at $2,188.

Police did not disclose his name. They said he was an American from Buffalo who came across the border to cash the tickets for a friend. He is held on an undisclosed charge.

It was the second arrest in an investigation of suspected fixing of horse races on Ontario tracks. Henry Dunn, 48, who gave a Chicago address, was apprehended Wednesday on a charge of conspiracy to defraud, and was remanded on $10,000 cash bail.

Doubles Final

The final of the Cross Cup doubles competition will be played at the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The final is between Mr. and Mrs. C. Wood of the Canadian Pacific Club and Mr. and Mrs. Passmore of Burnside.

A consolation series for players defeated in the first and second rounds of the competition will also be held at that time.

Evelyn Slater Clouts Homer To Tie Game

Evelyn Slater's three-run home run in the bottom of the seventh inning enabled Victoria Individuals to come from behind and force a 5-5 tie with Moose Ramblers in the third game of the best-of-five play-off series for the senior Women's city softball championship.

The game was called at the end of seven innings because of darkness.

The four-bagger couldn't have come at a more opportune moment as the Individuals at that point trailed in the game, 5-2, and in the series, 2-0.

SEVENTH WIDE OPEN

Most of the game's action occurred in the wide-open seventh. Ramblers overcame a 3-1 deficit with a four-run outburst in the top of the inning.

Up until the seventh the game was a pitcher's duel between Jocelyn Richmond of Ramblers and Ruth Oster of Individuals. Miss Richmond struck out nine and walked five and Mrs. Oster struck out five and walked two.

Fourth game in the series will be played at Lower Central, Monday evening at 6.30.

	R	H	E
Ramblers	000 100 4—5	7	2
Individuals	010 010 3—5	7	1

SATURDAY, AUGUST 4, 1951

Saturday for Everyone: Those who are sociable, willing to meet people at least "half way," and who know how to make themselves attractive to others, should make considerable headway today.

Look for Your Birthdate and Birthsign Below:

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — Get tasks off your mind early in the day so that you can enjoy some amusement and pastimes.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) — Allow yourself the luxury of doing the things that mean most to you.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) — Make home, family and parental interests the centre of your orbit. Invite others to join you among familiar scenes.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer) — Mix freely; try to become one of "fortune's favorites" today; you're likely to be in social demand.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo) — Get ample returns from your expenditures of time and money on the social scene.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Be the key figure in your social set or return courtesies by entertaining others.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra) — Adhere to quiet and relaxing pursuits. Read; build up reserves of knowledge.

October 23 to November 21 (Scorpio) — Seek out acquaintances who are "in tune" with you. Enjoy an even-going, relaxed day.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Attend to social engagements involving parents or higher-ups. Fulfill an ambition.

December 22 to January 19 (Capricorn) — Promote enduring objectives, travel plans, and the mapping of a week-end schedule.

January 20 to February 18 (Aquarius) — Gain an understanding of your untapped reserves and let them bolster your sense of security.

February 19 to March 20 (Pisces) — Make happiness and ease of mind your keys to more abundant living. Get out and mix.

Planning Ahead: Good for sociability, entertaining, etc.: August 5, 9, 10; morning of 11; afternoon of 12; around noontime of 14; morning of 16; evening of 20, 22.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

Uncle Wiggily, by this time, was beginning to wonder if he had been wise to follow Piney Coney through the woods.

"I am getting far away from my raft and my friends on it," thought Mr. Longears as he hopped along the path. "If I should get into trouble on this adventure, neither Bosun Uncle Butter nor Nurse Jane could hear me call for help.

"But I think everything will be all right. This is surely a most astonishing adventure! Here I am, following Piney Coney, a little animal who seems to be falling apart. At least the pine cones, of which he seems to be made, are dropping from him every once in a while." As he thought this, Uncle Wiggily saw a cone fall off the little animal's front leg.

"You are coming apart some more!" called the rabbit gentleman.

"Oh, it doesn't matter now," answered the funny little animal. "We are almost at the den."

"The—the den?" asked Uncle Wiggily quickly. "Did you say den?"

"I mean our house," answered Piney Coney quickly. "Sometimes we call it a den. But it is really a house made of a hollow stump like your bungalow, Uncle Wiggily."

"Oh, I see," answered the rabbit. "But aren't you going to pick up the cone that fell off your front left leg?"

"It doesn't matter much now," was the answer. "I am almost home. It's just around the corner of that big rock."

As Piney Coney turned, Uncle Wiggily saw that, at the place where the cone had fallen off the little animal's front left leg, there could be seen a patch of red fur.

"This is getting more and more strange," thought Uncle Wiggily. "Beneath his cones, Piney seems to have red fur. I never heard nor saw of any animal like this. I think I'll hop back to my raft. I believe I am in danger. This is a dangerous adventure!"

As Mr. Longears was about to turn around and hop back to Frog Pond, he heard a voice in the bushes ask:

"Have you got him, Reginald?"

"Yes, daddy, I have," replied the strange animal.

"Then we'll come out of the den and grab him!" said the voice.

"Oh! Oh! Is is too late! I am caught!" thought poor Uncle Wiggily. "That name Reginald! It is the name of the little fox."

Out of the bushes came running Mr. Clarence Fox and after him his wife, Mrs. Matilda Fox. Before Uncle Wiggily could turn

"I am caught all right"

UNCLE WIGGILY IS CAUGHT

to run away the two big foxes caught him, one by each ear.

Poor Uncle Wiggily was a prisoner.

"Wasn't I smart, daddy, to stick pine cones all over myself with pine tree gum, and pretend to be a strange, new animal?" asked the little boy fox. "Wasn't I smart?"

"Indeed you were, my dear," said his mother. "It was a very smart trick and it caught Uncle Wiggily.

"I am caught all right," thought the rabbit gentleman. "I see it all now. Reginald stuck pine cones all over himself so his red fur didn't show. He looked just like an animal made of pine tree cones. No wonder I was fooled. I didn't even guess the trick when some of the cones fell off and I thought he was coming apart. Oh, dear me! What shall I do?"

"Let's take him in our den, Clarence," said Mrs. Fox.

"That's what we'll do, Matilda," said Mr. Fox.

As Uncle Wiggily was pulled into the den of the three foxes, the rabbit gentleman saw Reginald taking off the last of the stuck-on pine cones. Until, at last, the little boy fox was all fur again.

"What are you going to do with me?" asked poor Uncle Wiggily.

"We will tell you in a little while," said Mr. Fox.

But I can tell you now, boys and girls, that nothing bad is going to happen to Uncle Wiggily. He will be rescued.

I will tell you about it on Monday, if the stove doesn't put a rice pudding in the apple pie and make believe it is a chocolate cake.

South should have based his play in today's deal on the all-important fact that his right-hand opponent had passed originally.

East, dealer.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	2 ♦
2 ♠	3 ♦	Pass	Pass
3 ♠	4 ♦	final bid

West opened the spade queen; East overtook and continued the suit. Declarer ruffed the third round high, then cashed the diamond king and jack. At this point he went into a long huddle. As he explained later, he found it hard to decide whether to play for a favorable outcome in the heart suit, or to finesse to his own jack of clubs. If the club queen was right, he would then be sure of a discard on dummy's club ace.

South's decision was to go out for the hearts, so he led the four to his ace and returned a low heart toward dummy. West, who was not inclined to make his enemy's problem any easier, played low on the second heart lead without hesitation, and South went wrong. He put in dummy's ten hoping it would force the king. Obviously, however, the defenders could now take two heart tricks and defeat the contract.

When, at the third trick, declarer saw that East had a six-card spade suit headed by A-K-J-10, he should have realized that there was a very small possibility of East's also holding the king of hearts. Very few players are so conservative (or, more accurately, so shortsighted) as to pass with: Spade, A K J 10 8 2; Heart, K x x; Diamond, x; Club, x x x.

Thus, unless South knew East to be an extremely timid bidder, he should have assumed that the heart king was held by West, and all he had to do was to follow through with this assumption when it came to the play in the heart suit itself.

Newsman Has Gay Evening in Paris, But Well-Heeled Friend Pays Way

By JOHN P. LEACACOS

PARIS, Aug. 3 (CANANA) — To get the idea of what Paris playboys describe as a "normal" evening, here is what happened to me in the so-called international "fun set" as the guest of a diplomatic friend from Panama.

Rendezvous was made innocently at Fouquet's, the famed cafe at the corner of Champs Elysées and Avenue George V in the rich tourist and movie-star district. My friend, Panama Hat, informed me it would be a quiet night with some relatives. They arrived 25 minutes late but that's usual Paris punctuality. The "relatives" consisted of two blondes and a duenna. The blondes knew who had the cash. They ignored me and the duenna.

TIME TO DINE

Three scotches later it was time to dine. Hal suggested the Cafe de Paris, which rivals the Tour d'Argent as a gourmet's paradise. They also X-ray you for money before you enter. However, the caviar tasted adequate. The poulet a la pool was almost homelike. The bordeaux, Chateau Lamour 1943, was O.K. The laughter was continuous. Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary-general, at the next table looked enviously at us.

"Now," said Hal, "for a digestif." This turned out to be the Lido's 11 p.m. show, the best vaudeville outside of America today. Hal ordered cognac, Martell's rare Cordon d'Or, only this year let out of the barrels. Champagne came later, Moet et Chandon 1928. The price made you shudder. The drinking thereof made you forget it. It was wonderfully dry.

LEFT BANK

It was at midnight and getting more ethereal by the minute when Hal and the blondes voted for Jimmy's on the Left Bank, the place for sambas and rhumbas, and you needed a shoehorn to get in. Gallantly I asked the duenna to dance. It lasted 20 seconds before we had to retire under a barrage of flying ankles.

"Maybe we try the waltz the next place," the duenna said brightly.

The next place, at 1.45 a.m., was Monsaigneur's. As we came in, the band struck up "Happy Birthday To You." But it wasn't for us. It was only for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor who were just ahead of us. An old customer, apparently, had persuaded the head waiter to switch us back to Scotch instead of champagne. The Scotch was only $3.50 a sip.

GYPSY VIOLINS

Meanwhile the gypsy violins were rushing the tempo, and a glow in a baby-blue satin, ankle-length bouffant strapless gown plus an ermine wrap and assorted Tiffany crockery. No fewer than 15 violinists played swooning Hungarian tunes while the Duke smirked and the Duchess tossed gay glances here and there. She asked them to play "God Bless America," then "Dixie" and "Anchors Aweigh."

Before they could swing into the "Stein Song" or "Notre Dame" I got a word in edgewise between Hal's two blondes that all this was making me too homesick. It was getting on for 4 a.m. and there was only one place to go—Les Halles, Paris' great marketplace teeming at that hour with tons of vegetables fresh from the farms, flowers in boxcar lots, rows and rows of sides of beef and millions of frog legs stacked up.

SIMPLE SALOON

At last we sank down upon a hard bench in the Pied du Cochon (The Pig's Foot). It was just a simple saloon, no frills, no plush, no violins. We ordered sauerkraut and Alsatian sausage and beer. The blondes quacked on.

An hour later the duenna promised me a date if I would promise her a ride in the Bois de Boulogne in a horse-drawn carriage. I promised me away from the beer and said consolingly:

"Next time we try the waltz, hein?"

Will Speak on Hiring Dispute

A statement is expected Monday from B.C. Contractors Ltd., Vancouver, on being called unfair by Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.-T.L.C.).

Council action was taken Wednesday to support a carpenters' and joiners' union local claim that its members should be hired for construction of the B.C. Forest Products' $2,000,000 plywood plant here. B.C. Contractors Ltd., erecting the plant, is hiring men through International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.).

CONTRADICTS REPORT

The company president, Walter Wishart, said he expected to make a statement Monday. He contradicted a report that his company was paying rates of from $1.31 to $1.82 hourly. The wage scale is $1.40 to $1.90 hourly, he said.

Stolberg Construction, Vancouver, also placed on the unfair list, has not commented on the union action. The construction firm is working in the remanufacturing room of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. mill plant.

Park Program Listed

This entertainment schedule for city parks next week has been announced:

Sunday, Beacon Hill Park 3 p.m. to 4.30 p.m., park's band under bandmaster H. Bigsby with soloist John Dunbar; 8.40 to 9.45 p.m., Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment brass band assisted by Red Triangle Concert Party with H. Tamblyn as bandmaster.

Wednesday, Beacon Hill Park 8 p.m., B.C. Electric Band under bandmaster H. Millar.

Thursday, Beacon Hill Park At dusk, movies under auspices of Victoria Film Council and Victoria Park department.

Friday, Beacon Hill Park 8 p.m., Fred Usher's Hometowners and amateur show, Central Park, 8.30 p.m., Dancing on the green.

LONDON (CP). — The Evening News, with a circulation of nearly 2,000,000 copies daily, has just celebrated its 70th birthday. The newspaper started in July, 1881, as a four-page issue and went two years before showing its first profit, amounting to £7.

Choppy Waters Halt 15 Regatta Entries

Choppy waters and stiff winds halted competitive sailing races in the Dowell; Tabu, D. Roberts; Rania, second annual B.C.S. Yacht Club 3 Dayies regatta yesterday.

Of a field of 32 vessels entered in races, only 17 completed the course from starting point at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club to Esquimalt harbor.

Of the 15 boats which gave up Esquimalt harbor and approaches the race, 10 of the Snipe class in the afternoon, were forced to turn back before reaching their course.

Winner in the "A" class was Buccaneer III, H. A. Wallace. Auxiliary cruisers: Blue Goose, Lieut. Roy Smith; May D, E. P. Ash; Red Start, Lieut.-Cmdr. E. M. Chadwick.

Young Visitors Leaving Today

Thirty-eight young visitors from California and their three adult supervisors will leave Victoria this afternoon after spending a three-days visit here.

The boys are members of the San Jose H&Y club, here on an annual 10-day trip. During their stay they have been guests of the Y.M.C.A. and have spent their time visiting local attractions and shopping for souvenirs.

The group will return by way of Seattle, stopping off in Portland and Eureka, Calif.

Water Short At Chemainus

CHEMAINUS, Aug. 3 — The water situation here is causing considerable concern. The level of Fuller Lake, the source of Chemainus water supply has dropped to the lowest level since records have been maintained. New regulations now effective provide alternate watering hours for various districts three days a week. No Sunday sprinkling is allowed.

This drastic curtailment is considered necessary to protect the townsite and the H. R. MacMillan export plant, Chemainus division, in the event of fire.

In physical terms, Yukon and the Northwest Territories stretch 2,500 miles from Davis Strait to Alaska.

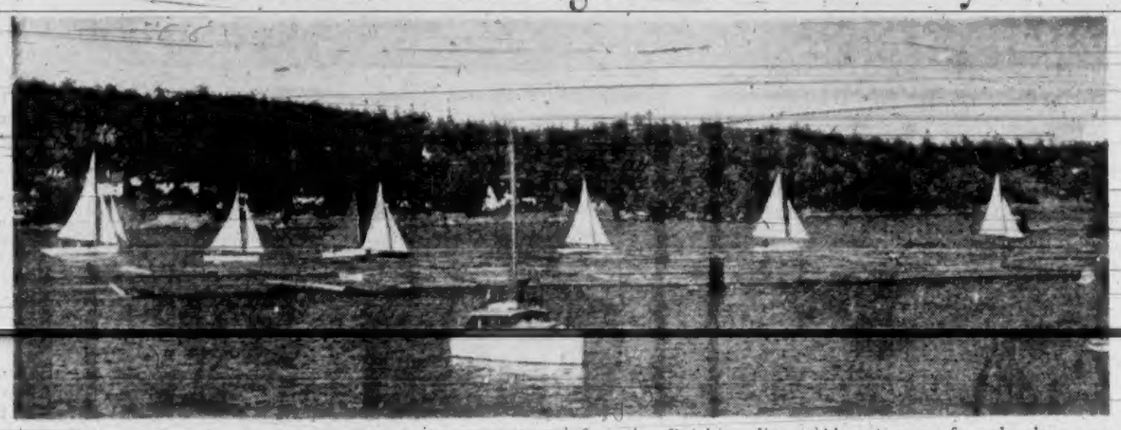
R.C.N. Yacht Club Regatta Gets Under Way



One of the classes in the R.C.N. Yacht Club regatta slips away gracefully from Cadboro Bay's blue waters yesterday and reaches into the wind as the race for Esquimalt Harbor begins. A total of 32 yachts entered the field, but because of rough weather only 17 arrived at the finishing line. Almost one of each class was forced to give up the race, while the entire snipe entry had to turn back. Snipe class will race again today at 2.30 p.m.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Yacht Loretta Reaches Port Safely

The American yacht Loretta reached a Puget Sound port safely early yesterday morning after overcoming serious engine trouble which developed about seven miles southeast of Victoria.

First reports before midnight Thursday indicated the craft was sinking. Four persons were aboard.

Yesterday, T. E. Morrison, local Transport Department agent, paid tribute to men of the local B.C. Pilotage Authority who left their floats in the pilotage vessel Oakwood to go to the help of the distressed yacht within a few minutes of hearing of her plight.

HEAVY SEA

Aboard the Oakwood were Capt. Thomas T. Taylor and Samuel Peats. They conducted an extensive search which took them close to Port Angeles. A heavy sea was running at the time.

A United States coast guard vessel from Port Angeles, also came to the pilgrimage assistance, and a Canadian fishing vessels, also rushed to aid the American yacht. Before any rescue craft reached her, however, the Loretta was under way again and signaled there was no need of assistance.

The yacht's owner was listed as R. N. Gaasland of Bellingham.

DISGUISED EXPLORER

Sir Richard Burton, British explorer who died in 1890, gained fame by making the pilgrimage to Mecca disguised as an Indian.

Nootka To Sail Tonight

The destroyer Nootka will sail for Halifax, her home port, this evening.

Arriving here Tuesday afternoon from service in Korea, the warship required repairs to a propeller after trouble with a log in the Race Rocks area. The ship was drydocked for the repairs.

Originally she was to have left here Thursday morning.

SAANICH WATERWORKS

GORDON HEAD AND TEN MILE POINT AREAS

Residents of these areas are informed that, owing to power line repairs, water pressures will be greatly reduced for several hours commencing 9 a.m. Sunday, August 5, 1951.

Sault Ste. Marie Returns After Prolonged Cruise

The minesweeper Sault Ste. Marie returned to Esquimalt yesterday after a 10-day training cruise which started in the second week of July and stretched to a month.

Eight days were spent at the United States naval shipyards at San Francisco, where the ship underwent engine repairs. The trouble developed shortly after the ship had left the Golden Gate port for Esquimalt. She was forced to turn back.

* * *

BOILER TROUBLE

Ss. Princess Maquinna, serving Vancouver Island's west coast, is expected here tomorrow with boiler trouble.

CPR officials report the scheduled August 7 sailing from this port has been canceled to allow for repairs to the ship. She will resume regular service August 15.

The ship is making slower progress than usual because she is operating on only one boiler.

* * *

FRIGATES DUE

The frigates Beacon Hill and Antigonish, now forming the Pacific Training Force, will return to Esquimalt today from Bedwell Harbor, in the Gulf of Georgia.

On August 8 they will sail on a training cruise to Pearl Harbor.

Recently detached from the force was the destroyer Crusader, commanded by Cmdr. H. V. W. Groos. She left here Thursday afternoon with the Korea-bound destroyer Athabaskan. The two warships will part company at the Hawaiian Island base, with the Crusader due to return to Esquimalt late this month.

MAY DROP SERVICE

The Canadian Pacific Steamship Co. is reported to be dropping passenger service to south eastern Alaska between Nov. 10 and March 10.

The Princess Norah, the regular winter ship, will go on the Kitimat-Prince Rupert run at that time, a Juneau dispatch says.
